After studying, the experts gave an explanation for this world's most mysterious magic, and the truth is that it was surprisingly simple.

First, David covered the Statue of Liberty with a dome created from the curtain and two towers on both sides of the stage.

At this point, in front of the audience at the stage or the viewers through the television are the scenes behind the artificial dome.

After the curtain fell, David began to stand in front of hundreds of thousands of spectators eagerly waiting for the magic show. And in this very moment, David gave the moving stage a spinning stage on the platform where the audience was unaware.

When the curtain was pulled up, the Statue of Liberty disappeared in front of the audience.
