

How smart home of the super rich is equipped with a terrible security system?

In action films, you must have seen high-end security systems with laser strips across the bulletproof entrance, windows and doors ... And in real life, smart houses of the world. Super rich are also equipped with high-end security systems in every corner that is not different from in the film.

In action films, you must have seen high-end security systems with laser strips across the bulletproof entrance, windows and doors . And in real life, smart houses of the world. Super rich are also equipped with high-end security systems in every corner that is not different from in the film.

Find out about the massive security level equipped in Residence 950, a super-luxury home for sale for up to $ 45 million in San Francisco to better understand the super smart home security system. rich

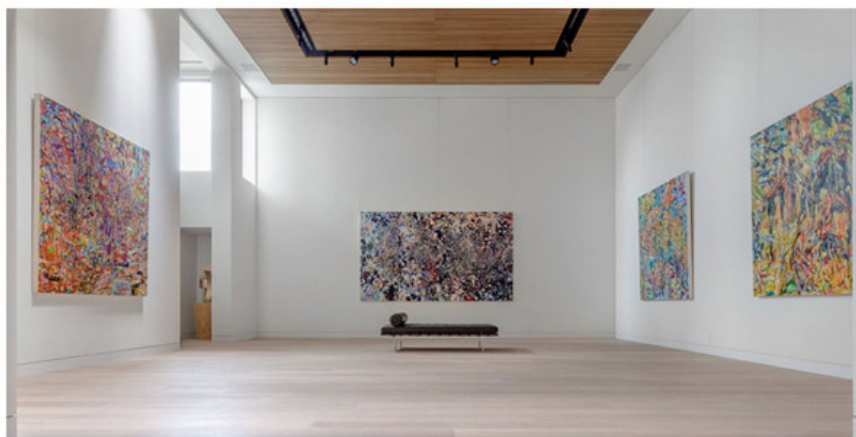

The high-level security system in Residence 950 is built from security equipment used by big companies like Dell. Defeat any intrusions into the inside of any 'uninvited' guests.

Starting with the garage, it is equipped with an enterprise-class firewall that includes a biometric keyboard, only those with fingerprints registered in the system are allowed to access.

In the house there are a few safe rooms to hide in case there is an attacker. Even in the safety room, it is equipped with security camera systems with almost unlimited storage memory.

The doors are also bulletproof to prevent gunmen attacks.

The house is also equipped with anti-flash solutions to prevent snoopers or photo hunters. In addition, inside the house there are also trap mechanisms that block intruders, preventing them from escaping before the police arrive.

Even the super-rich have equipped their smart houses with measures against attacks that often appear only in action movies. For example, explosion-proof floors and walls can withstand any explosion or self-propelled tent designed to provide safe shelter in the event of chemical weapons attacks.

See more:

1. How will smart home equipment be lost?
2. This is why Alexa will dominate every smart home
3. What is Smart Home Smart Home?

You finished reading the article "How smart home of the super rich is equipped with a terrible security system?" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.