Instructions to cancel automatically add to Facebook group

1. Block add to Facebook group in Settings

Right on Facebook Settings there is an option to block someone's invitation to join Facebook group, or to block specific Facebook groups on Facebook.

Step 1:

Users click on the gear icon and select Settings .

Step 2:

Switch to the new interface and click on Block .

Looking at the content on the right, there will be two sections that need to be set up, including Blocking invitations to join groups and Block groups.

With Block invitations to join groups , enter the name of the person or add you to the garbage Facebook group . We will not receive any more group invitations from them.

The nice thing about this option is that when you block people who often add you to the group, they will not receive any messages from Facebook. Enter a name in the Block invitation from box .

Next down the Blocking section. Please enter the group name we don't want to join. Once blocked we will not receive any invitations to join that group.

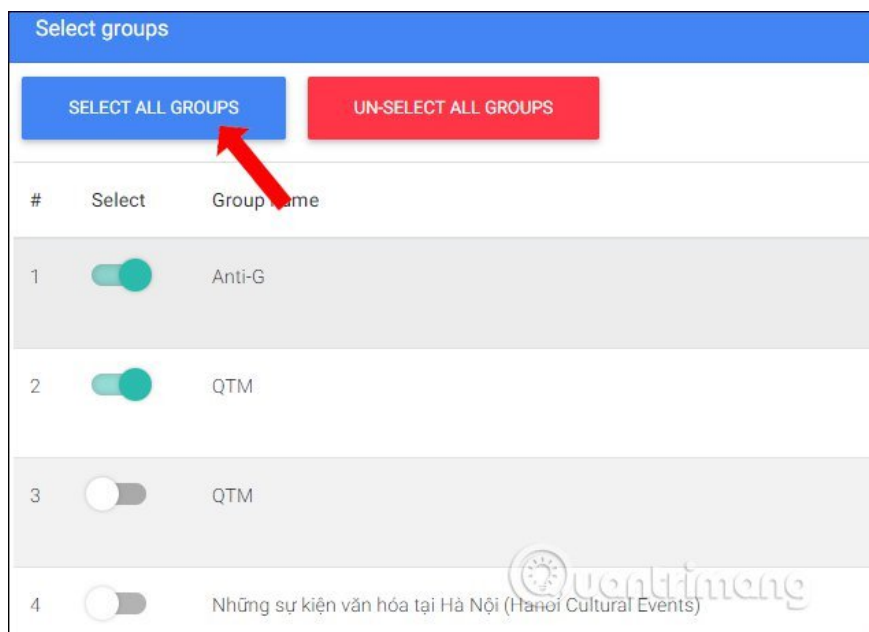

The list of Facebook groups that block the invitation will appear immediately below. The Unblock button below will unblock the group invitation if the user needs it.

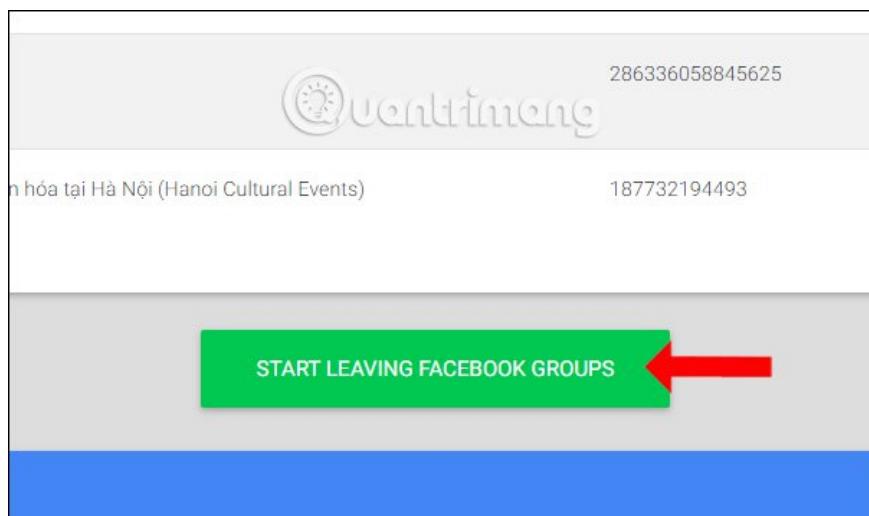

2. Leave a series of Facebook groups

In case you have been added to multiple groups on Facebook, you can exit all Facebook groups with just one simple click.
