

How to block the display of images in Gmail

The feature of automatic downloading and displaying photos in Gmail, though quite convenient, also accidentally reveals personal information. If we turn off the display of images in Gmail, the picture will always ask before you.

The automatic download and display of images in Gmail is convenient for you, but it also accidentally reveals your personal information. If you browse email on your phone with 3G / 4G capacity, it will be quite expensive when downloading photos. In the new update, Gmail will scan images to make sure they do not contain harmful components. There is also an option for you to turn off the front of image in email. The email will always ask if you want to display the image, instead of always displaying the image as before. The following article will guide you how to turn off the display of previous images on Gmail.

1. How to turn off the previous image on Gmail iPhone / iPad

At the interface on Gmail we click the icon 3 dashes and then click on the Settings . Then we choose the Gmail address you want to set up when you have signed in to multiple Gmail accounts on the device.
