

How to blur text appears in PowerPoint

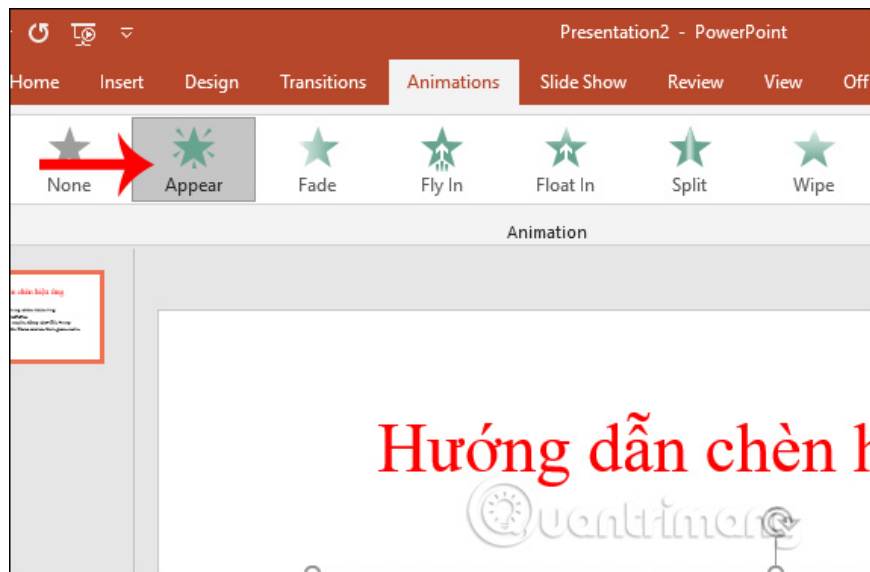

The blurring effect displayed in PowerPoint slides helps viewers focus on the content being presented.

There are many effects applied to text when presenting on PowerPoint slides that users can choose to use accordingly. One of them is the blur effect that displays the text on the slide. When you present a lot of content, we can blur the content presented to focus on the content being presented. Old content still appears on the slide, but does not affect the new content that viewers can still follow. The following article will guide you how to create a watermark effect in text.

Instructions to blur text appear in PowerPoint

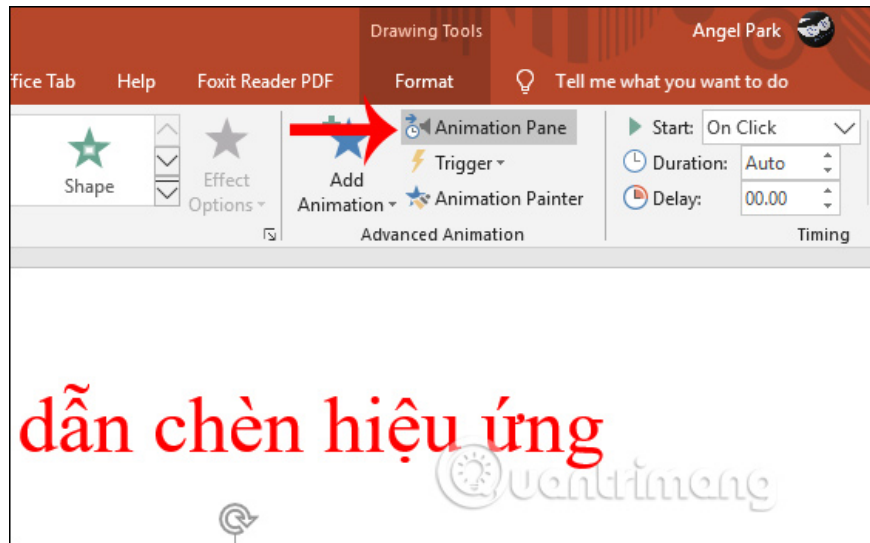

Step 1:

At the content we want to create an effect, we highlight the tab then Animation . Then we will select the Appear effect .

Step 2:

Next we add the Appear effect to the remaining content . Then click Animation Pane on the ribbon of PowerPoint.

Step 3:

In the Animation Pane box below, press Ctrl and click on each animation effect used. Click on the drop down triangle and select Effect Options .

Step 4:

Appear dialog interface appears, click the Effect tab. In the After animation section, click on the drop down triangle icon and choose gray or click More Colors to find more colors. Prioritize choosing a color similar to the slide background currently in use. Finally click OK.

Finally, we see how the presentation slides.
