

How to Buy Multiple Windows Licenses

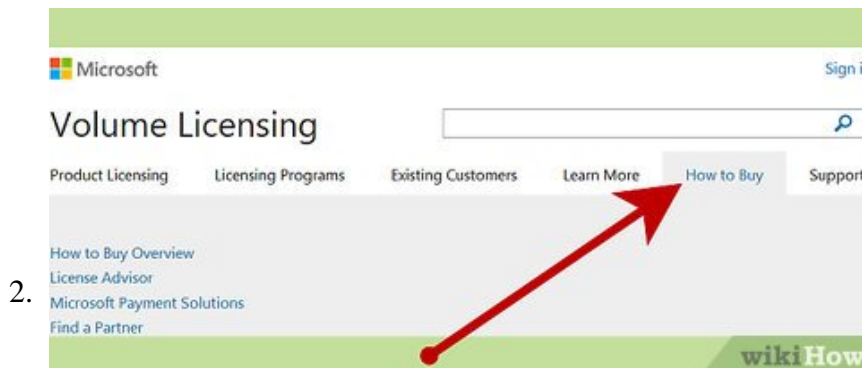

When you purchase Microsoft Windows from a big box retailer, such as an office supply store, that version usually carries a single license for use on one. If you need to use Windows on multiple computers, you could purchase multiple copies...

Method 1 of 2:

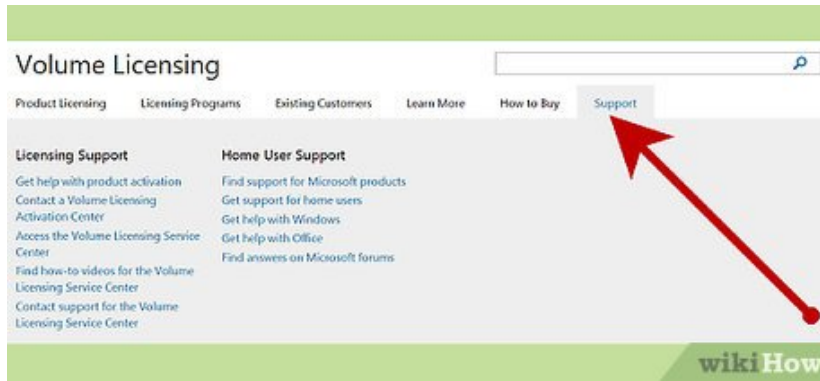

New Customers

Navigate to the Microsoft Volume Licensing website at Microsoft.com/licensing.

Click "How to Buy," and select "Buy or Renew."

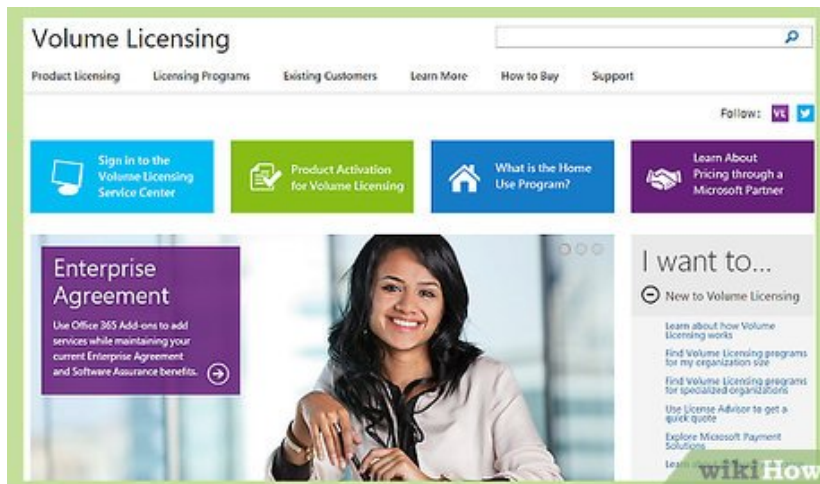

3.

Call Microsoft at (800) 426-9400 or click "Find and authorized reseller," and enter your city, state and zip to find a reseller near you.

1. The Microsoft customer service line or the authorized retailer can tell you how to buy multiple windows licenses.

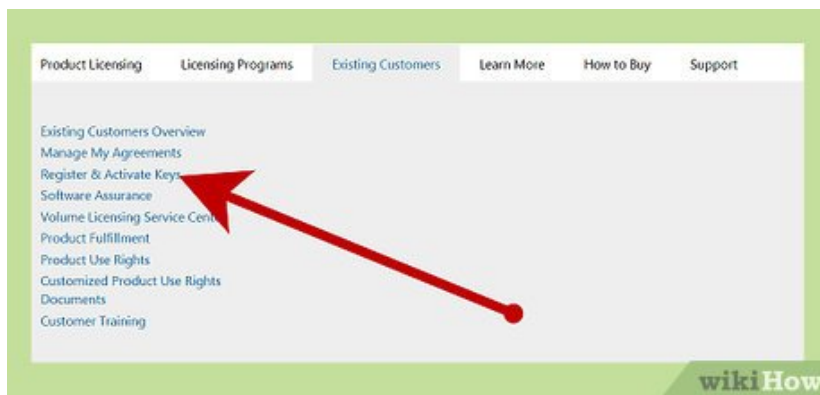

Method 2 of 2:

Existing Customers

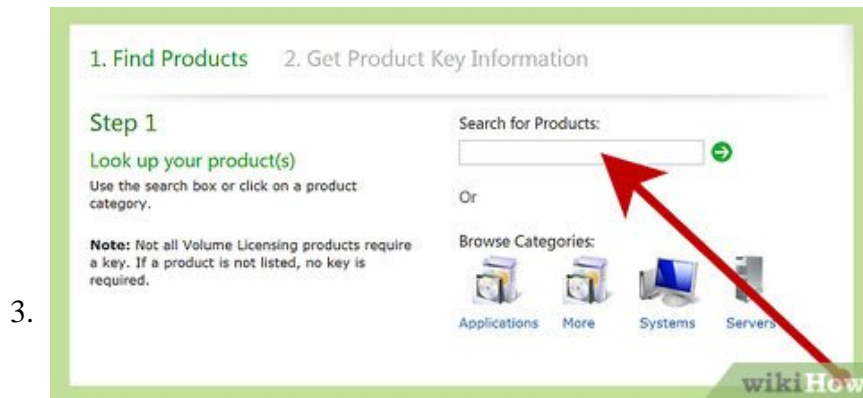

1.

Navigate to the Microsoft Volume Licensing website at Microsoft.com/licensing.

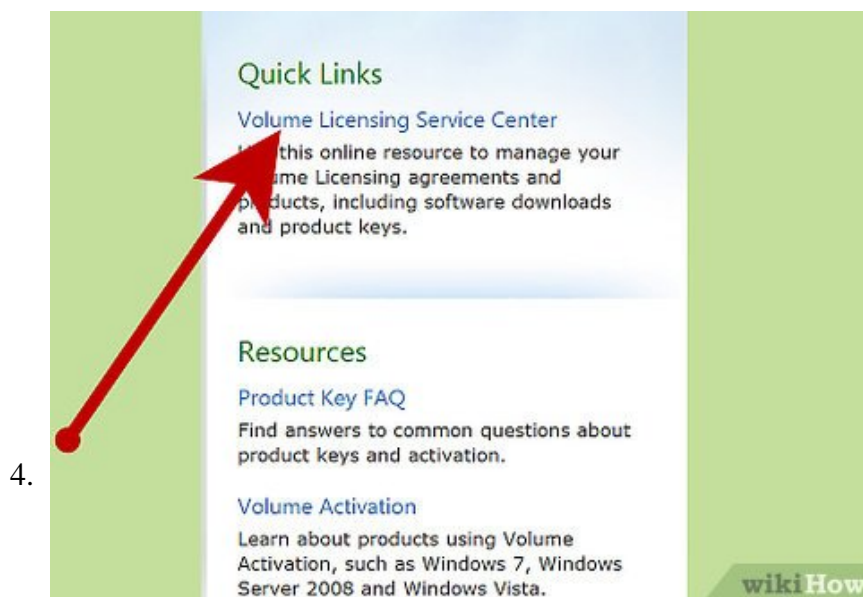

2.

Click "Existing Customers" and select "Product Activation" if you have an invitation to the Volume Licensing Service Center (VLSC) or if you already have a volume license on another Microsoft product.

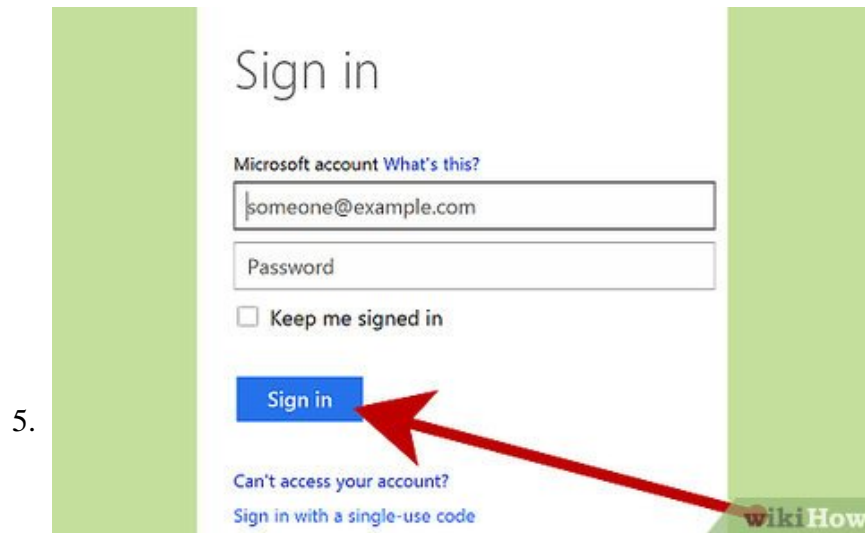

Scroll down to "1. Find Products" at the bottom of the page. Enter your version of Windows in the "Search for Products" field and click the arrow.

1. The following page will show you the Volume License Keys that are available for your version of Windows.

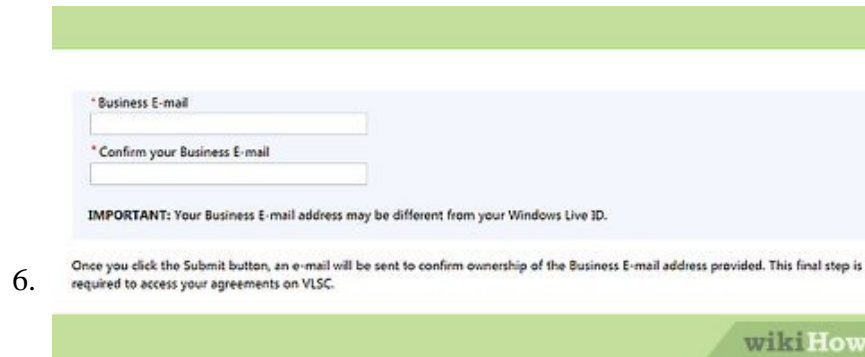

Scroll to the top right corner of the page and click on "Volume Licensing Service Center" under "Quick Links."

Click "Sign" in and enter your Windows Live ID and password.

1. If you do not have a Windows Live ID, click "Sign up now," and follow the on-screen prompts to create an ID.

Enter your business email address.

1. If you have received an invitation to join VLSC, use the address on the invitation.
2. If you have not, use the email address for business name on your existing volume license agreement.
3. Microsoft will send you a verification email. Go to your email inbox, retrieve the message and follow the instructions for verifying your address.

Go to the page that lists your open licenses. Select the option to add a volume license.

The screenshot shows the Microsoft Volume Licensing Service Center interface. At the top, there is a blue header with the text "Microsoft Volume Licensing Service Center". Below the header, the page title is "Add Open License". Underneath, there is a short instruction: "To add an Open License to your VLSC profile, enter your first and last name, a valid Authorization and License Number and click Submit." The form contains four input fields: "First Name", "Last Name", "License number", and "Authorization number". At the bottom of the form, there is a checkbox with the text: "I acknowledge that I am a) the reseller of record b) the owner of the Open License, or c) have been granted specific permission to use the Open License entered above." A "WIKIHOW" watermark is visible in the bottom right corner of the screenshot.

8.

Follow the screen prompts to purchase a volume license for your version of Windows.

You finished reading the article "How to Buy Multiple Windows Licenses" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.