When making FaceTime calls on iPhone and iPad, the recipient will see the caller's ID. Here are instructions for changing FaceTime Caller ID on iPhone and iPad.

When you call someone by FaceTime, your caller ID - email address or phone number - will appear on the recipient's screen. If you have multiple email addresses associated with the Apple ID, the recipient may not recognize and ignore your call. How to change FaceTime Caller ID is relatively easy and this is how to do it.

1. How to use Animoji and Memoji in FaceTime on iPhone
2. How to install FaceTime on a Mac
3. How to convert the camera when FaceTime video call on iPhone or iPad running iOS 12

To start, open the Settings app and touch FaceTime .

Note, the email address will only appear if you have logged in with your Apple ID, so make sure you are logged in and click the Use your Apple ID for FaceTime button .

Next, touch the phone number or email address you want to use as the caller ID in the Caller ID section.

That's it, now when you start a new voice or FaceTime video call, the phone number or email address you just selected will be the number used as your caller ID.

I wish you all success!
