

How to change the anniversary album background music on iPhone

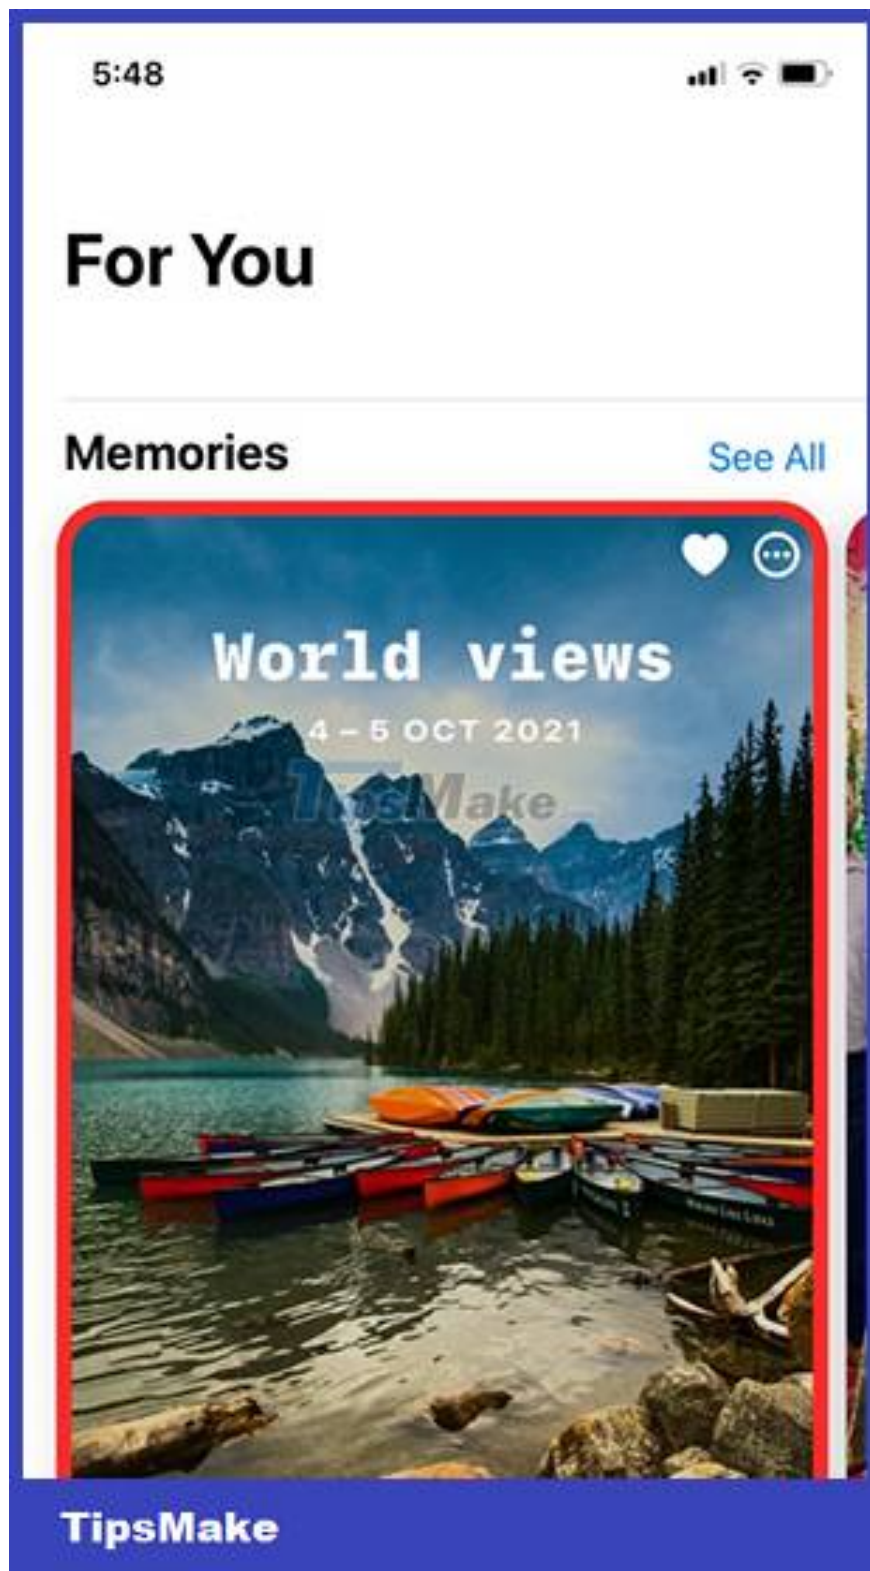

The background music for the anniversary album is taken from random songs in Apple Music and users can change the background music for the anniversary album as they like.

The anniversary album feature on iPhone creates collections with photos and videos combined with music into a complete video. The background music for the anniversary album is taken from random songs in Apple Music and users can change the background music for the anniversary album as they like. So instead of choosing the background music for the anniversary album, you can choose the song you want in Apple Music. The following article will guide you on how to change the anniversary album background music on iPhone.

Instructions for changing iPhone anniversary album background music

Step 1:

Open the Photos app on your phone and then tap the For You tab. Next, find the Memories album and click on the album you want to edit.

Step 2:

At the anniversary album editing interface, the user clicks on the screen to display all options for this anniversary album. Next we click on the music note icon as shown.

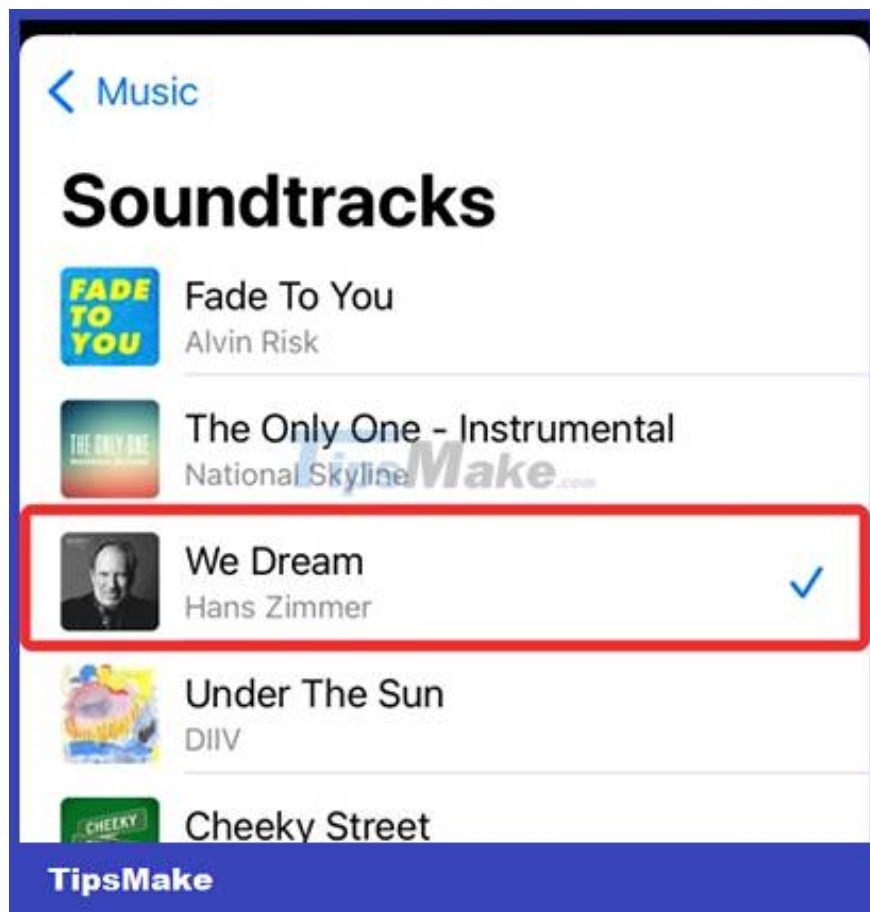

Step 3:

Displays the editing interface for the memories album. We click on the plus icon to add music to the anniversary album.

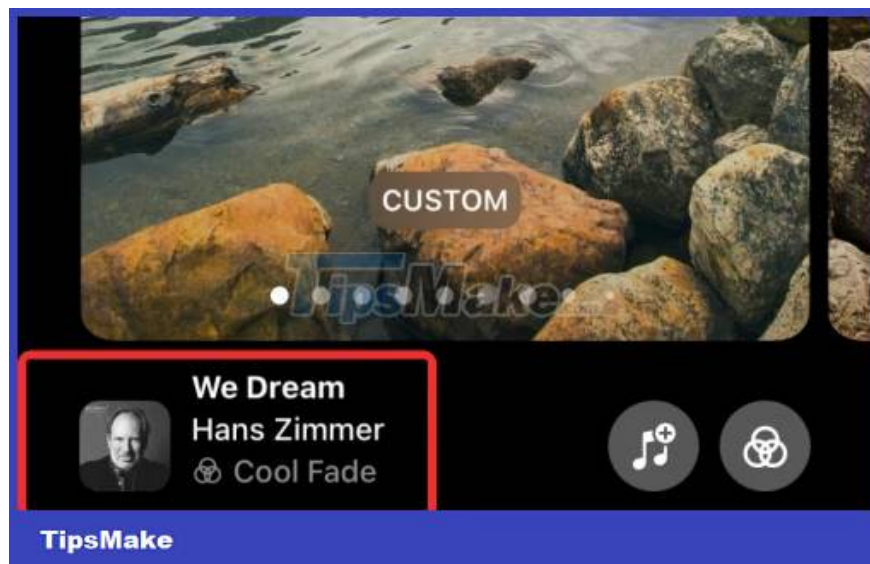

Step 4:

Shows songs to change for anniversary album background music on iPhone. If you like a song, click on it to change the background music for the anniversary album. Click Done to save the new background music.

So the anniversary album's music has been changed to the song you selected previously.

You finished reading the article "How to change the anniversary album background music on iPhone" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.