

How to change the display style of the list of accounts that Threads are following

The list of your Threads following accounts has the option to adjust the display style so that you can easily find the account you want, the latest Threads account or the Threads account you follow the earliest.

Then you can easily find the Threads account you need based on the time that we follow them. Here is a guide for you to change the display style of the Threads account list to follow.

Instructions to change the display style of the Threads account list to follow

Step 1:

At the interface on the Threads application, click on the profile icon in the bottom right corner. Next in the personal Threads account interface, click on the number of Threads accounts that follow you .

Picture 1 of How to change the display style of the list of accounts that Threads are following

Picture 2 of How to change the display style of the list of accounts that Threads are following

Step 2:

Switch to the new interface, click the Following item to see a list of Threads accounts you are following on the application.

Picture 3 of How to change the display style of the list of accounts that Threads are following

Step 3:

Displays a list of accounts Threads follows. Here we click Arrange to adjust the display mode of the list of accounts Threads are following. Now displayed below the Latest First and Latest First options for us to choose to display the Threads account that is following in the list.

Picture 4 of How to change the display style of the list of accounts that Threads are following

Picture 5 of How to change the display style of the list of accounts that Threads are following

Step 4:

Click on the display type of the Threads account you want to follow. The Threads application will then rearrange the list of Threads accounts according to the requirements you want.

Picture 6 of How to change the display style of the list of accounts that Threads are following

Picture 7 of How to change the display style of the list of accounts that Threads are following

The display style of the Threads track list can be changed whenever you want depending on your needs.

You finished reading the article "How to change the display style of the list of accounts that Threads are following" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.