

How to change the font color in Photoshop

How to change the font color in Photoshop. One of the most commonly used features in Photoshop is writing, and currently Photoshop is supporting full RGB colors so users can match colors quickly.

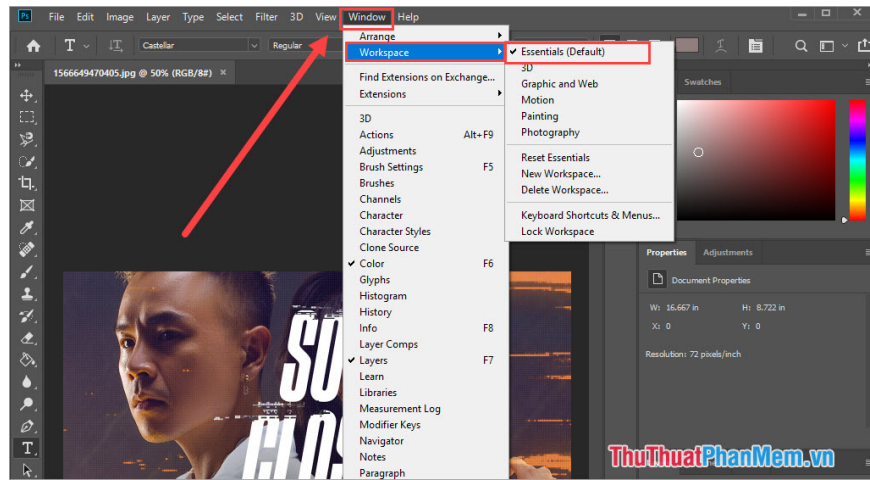

Photoshop is the most professional image editing software on the computer today. One of the most commonly used features in Photoshop is writing, and currently Photoshop is supporting full RGB colors so users can match colors quickly. Changing the text color in Photoshop is very simple and there are many different ways. In this article, the software tips will guide you how to change the font color in Photoshop.

How to change the Basic font color

Software tips will perform operations on the basic interface of Photoshop. You change to the basic interface by the following:

Windows -> Workspace -> Essentials (Default)

Step 1: You need to write the words before changing the color, you select the "T" icon to write words.

Step 2: After writing the word, select "Color box" to select the color of the text.

Step 3: Then you choose the color you want to change and click OK to save.

And then your text will be changed to the selected color.

Some other ways

The following methods work in the same way as the previous one, using a color box in Photoshop.

Step 1: After writing the word, you can choose the "1" or "2" icon to choose the color for the text and change the color for the text in Photoshop.

Step 2: Then you choose the font color you want to change.

And then the text in Photoshop will change color.

Note: Changing the text color in Photoshop is only possible when the text is in Layer Text. When the Layer Text is tampered with and modified to Normal Layer, you cannot change the font color.

In this article, the Software Tips guide you how to change the font color in Photoshop in many different ways. Good luck!

You finished reading the article "How to change the font color in Photoshop" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.

---

