

How to check Facebook user information and activities

Quickly view the Facebook activity of any user very simply, you can check any public activity.

At the top of the list of the most crowded social networks today, Facebook is where we make friends to exchange and promote websites when creating Facebook Fanpage or exchanging information on certain issues with creating groups on Facebook. However, Facebook also brings a lot of risks, especially for families with young children, when they can access inappropriate content.

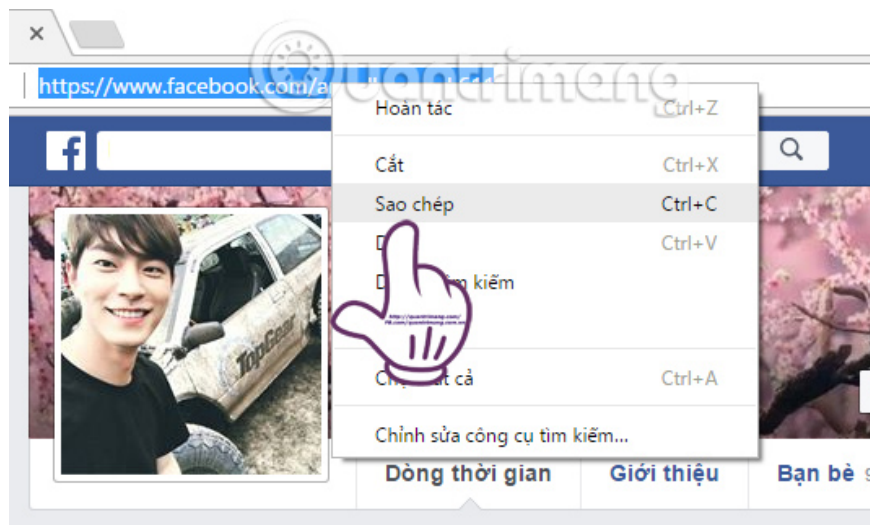

If users want to know the whole action and information of any Facebook account, they can use 2 tools Stalk Face and Stalk Scan. These 2 websites help us search for information related to people who want to check, through Facebook's own data store. The information is divided into different data groups for easier control. The following article will guide you how to use Stalk Face and Stalk Scan to view any Facebook account information.
