

How to choose a wedding dress suitable for the bride's figure

Before choosing a wedding dress, brides should consider who they are in order to be able to choose a suitable dress, to help you exaggerate the beauty on the body, while concealing unwanted defects.

Any bride wants to be beautiful in a gorgeous wedding dress, marking the most important moment of her life. However, the expensive wedding dress is not necessarily beautiful, but before choosing a wedding dress the brides should consider who they are so they can choose a suitable dress, help you exalt the beauty on the body. and conceal unwanted defects.

Here are suggestions to help brides choose a beautiful wedding dress, suitable for their looks.

1. Pear shape

The pear-shaped girls will have the advantage of slim waist and big buttocks but the chest is small, the hips and thighs are slightly oversized. So if you have this figure, you can choose an A-shaped skirt with a tight upper body, showing off the beautiful curve of the waist, and the big part of the skirt will cover the hips and thighs. not perfect.

Besides, a dress with a boat or a bulging hand will help your small shoulder look more balanced. Do not choose a dress with a cup, close to your armpit or a fish tail.

2. Shape the apple

If you have an apple shape, choose a wedding dress with a cup or deep collar to take advantage of the full round. But it is best to choose a long V-shaped neckline dress down below that will make your shoulder feel smaller, no longer too big and rough.

The downside of this figure is that the waist is relatively large, so like a pear shape, you should choose a dress with an A-shaped shape and have a waistline to look your waist up.

These humanoid brides will be suitable for those dresses that have missed hands, made of lace material to cover the big biceps and absolutely should not wear fishtail wedding dresses that will make the shortcomings of you are exposed.

3. Rectangle shape (banana shape)

Banana-shaped girls, also known as rectangular shapes, will have shoulder-length hips, buttocks, chest and waist that are small. The downside of this figure is that the body does not have charming curves. So absolutely do not choose the tight wedding dress, fishtail shape, skirt empty because it will make you look like a ruler with measurements of 3 rounds no difference.

Choose dresses that can help you create accents in three rounds such as a dress with a deep neck or a dress with a pattern of a skirt at the waist, body and skirt. A dress that is hugged at the top and spread out below will be very suitable for this person. You should choose a dress with soft chiffon material to make you look elegant and gentle.

4. Strawberry shape (inverted triangle shape)

Like the inverted triangle, the berries are the ones with the upper (the shoulders, the chest) are large and wide but the lower part (hips, legs) is small and thin. An A-skirt or long-skirt with layers of fabric stacked on the side of the hips will help you hide the defects on your body.

You should choose a dress that has a simple neck and is pressed at the waist or body to reduce people's attention to the slightly rough upper part.

5. Shape of hourglass

This is a human figure with a 3-round measurement of a standard rate. Lucky girls who own this gorgeous figure are very easy to choose for themselves a wedding dress like that. However, you should not choose a wide-spread wedding dress, but cleverly choose a fishtail skirt and body hug that will help you embellish the charming curves. A dress with a cup, two strings or a lace accent on the chest will make your first round beauty look perfect and sexy.

You finished reading the article "How to choose a wedding dress suitable for the bride's figure" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.