Hot water is an indispensable device in every family, the following article will help your family choose a hot water machine suitable to the needs of the family.

Hot water is an indispensable device in every family when winter comes, especially families with elderly people, young children or those who have a habit of bathing in the morning.

You are in need of buying a water heater for your family, but there are so many products in the market today with a variety of models from many different brands, you do not know which products are suitable with your family's needs? Don't skip the article on how to choose the best home water heater below:

1. Choose indirect or direct water heater

On the market today popular two types of water heaters are: direct water heaters and indirect water heaters. The noticeable difference of these two devices is the design of indirect containers and tanks with containers and the direct ones will directly connect to the water source.

Depending on the demand, the purpose of use and the bathroom area to choose the right product is the smartest choice for smart consumers.

2. Check the box when shopping

To avoid buying counterfeit goods, counterfeit goods, paying attention to bar code stamps, printed lines must be crisp, clear, clear, without any blurring and no similar stamps. Buy at reputable locations, to ensure genuine purchase, preferential after-sales warranty.

You should prioritize the selection of products from brands such as Ariston, Ferroli, Rossi, Aqua, Midea .

You note:

If the original stamp will include information: brand, capacity, power source, working pressure . Any genuine product on the box also has the name Made in Japan, Italy or elsewhere. That origin of the product.

Imports from Japan and Europe are appreciated for quality but the price is quite high.

3. Select machine materials

If you look at it, you can easily identify patterns of hot water that are often glazed, which helps reduce the corrosion caused by sediments that attach themselves to the surface. However, the price of the enamelled bottle is usually higher than the unglazed type.

VỎ CHỐNG THẤM NƯỚC CHUẨN IP25

You need to carefully examine the contact points to make sure the surface is not corroded, scratched or peeled off. Often good brand products are rarely peeled off paint in new products.

The bronze case is longer than the plastic case, but it will be oxidized in alum water. Therefore, if your residence has an acidic water source, it is best to use a container with a plastic case.

4. Check inside the container

Inside the container is usually a burning bar and a magnesium anti-corrosion bar. This magnesium rod works to prevent corrosion into the walls.

However, if not, the device will still work, so many places have taken out the Magnes bar for sale. When buying, you should ask for the bottle to be removed to check if the magnesium in the gut is intact.

5. Safe mode

You should choose a water heater that uses ELCB instead of CB to ensure your family's safety. ELCB is capable of detecting leakage and disconnecting power, avoiding any risk of circuit breakdown and explosion. The type of machine using CB has a lower price, but only works when the breakdown occurs.
