

How to convert PDF to JPG, PNG images

How to convert PDF to images like JPG, PNG is essential when you want to compress PDFs, view PDFs by image viewer, or extract several PDF pages and share them with other users.

Why need to convert the format from .pdf file to image format?If you look carefully you will see some advantages of this as follows.

PDF files require a dedicated application installed in the computer, while the image file does not need to have any additional applications, just use the default Windows viewer application to view it. get the image file content. Browsers can read image files easily, while for pdf files, you want to read through the browser, you need to install additional plugins.

Reading PDF files can only be done after the file has been completely downloaded, whereas image files can be read in parallel along with the download process. MS Office applications such as Word, Excel, PowerPoint interact with and handle image files more powerful than PDF files. For example, it is much faster to insert an image as a picture into a PowerPoint file than by inserting a pdf file with the same content.

In other cases, if you feel it is necessary to convert a pdf file to an image, you can try one of the following:

UniPDF

When downloading UniPDF, you will be told that it is a program called Convert to Word Plus 1.0 and the software is listed as ConvertPDF2WordPlus in the Start menu.

Drag your document into a simple, neat window, select Image from the list on the right, then click the Settings tab. Be sure to choose JPG (other image formats including GIF, BMP and TIFF), choose image resolution (72 or 96) and a color profile (1, 8 or 24 bits). Go back to the Home tab, click Convert , select the output and the conversion will complete quickly.

However, even when selecting the highest image quality setting, the JPG file is not very sharp. And an important note is that UniPDF can only convert 3 pages in a pop window.

3. Use the Paint tool

If you can't connect to the Internet to make a switch from a web service or can't successfully download and install the conversion software, try this last way. This is the traditional craft that people often use. Use the PrntScr button on the keyboard in conjunction with the built-in MS Paint program in Windows. In this way, you will have to take a screenshot of each pdf page and paste it into the Paint application to convert it into an image file.

I wish you all success!
