

How to create a Skype chat group vote

Create a vote on the Skype group to help solve the problem of discussion more quickly through the voting table.

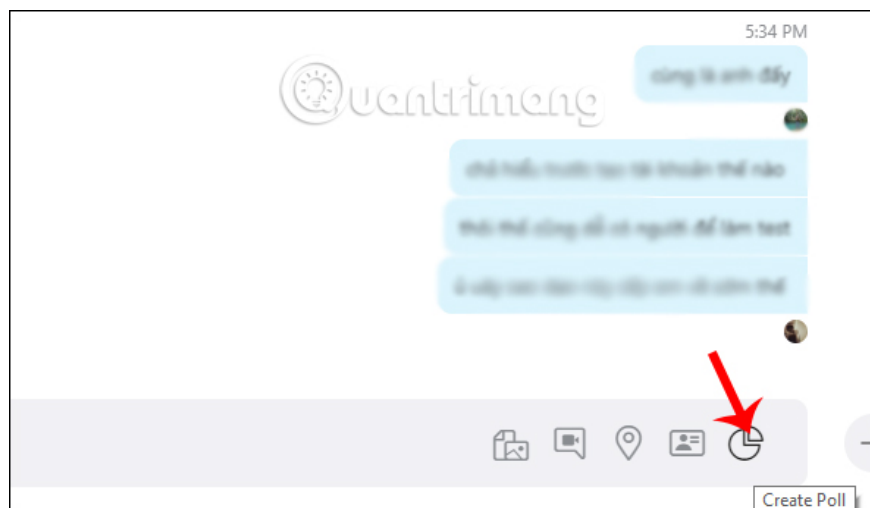

Creating chat groups on chat apps makes discussing conversation easier. And to increase support for chat groups, many applications have added the ability to create polling tables. For example, you can create a vote on Messenger, or create a vote for the Skype chat group. At that time, instead of having to give many opinions, the members of the chat group will synthesize their comments through voting. The number of votes for each option helps to make a decision for a discussion issue on the Skype chat group. The following article will guide you how to create a vote on the Skype chat group.

Step 3:

As a result, users will see the voting panel displayed in the chat group interface as shown. When any chat group member chooses the option, you will receive a notification on the screen. At the same time the number of votes for each direction is displayed right next to it.

If you want to see which members have chosen the option, click View details below the voting table.

Step 4:

The interface to the right of the screen shows the number of votes with the picture representing the selected account. To view the account name just press the arrow to display.

You will then know the name of the selected member.

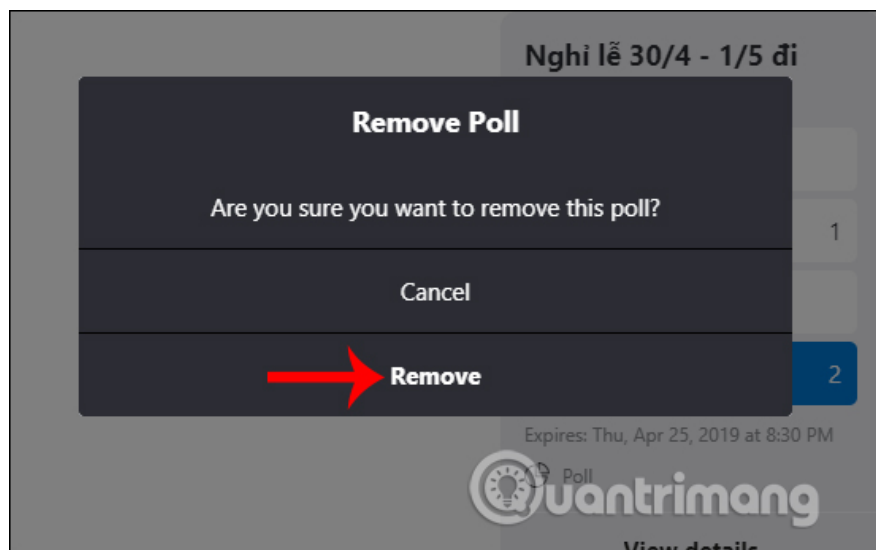

Step 5:

At the end of the voting period, the members cannot press the plan anymore. If you want to delete the vote, press the 3 dot icon and select Remove to finish.

Finally press Remove to agree to delete the created poll.

By creating a Skype chat group voting table, discussion is easier when the group has a large number of members. Any member of the chat group will create a poll.

I wish you all success!
