2. Select a site type

The website builder will ask you to choose a category and a name for the website. At this point, you do not need a domain name.

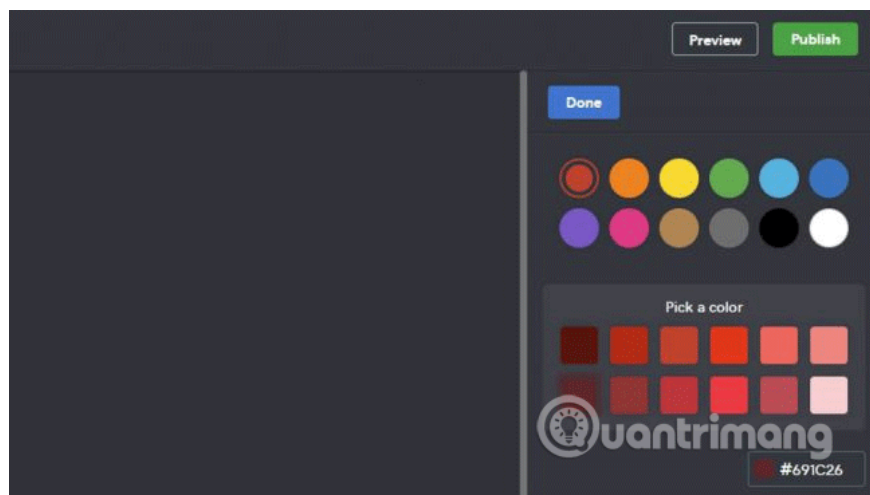

This tutorial will create a fictional retail site for Boston Hat Repairs, so select the Used, Vintage, and Consignment Clothing category .

3. Select website theme

Godaddy Website Builder tool selects a default theme called Trade, but there are several alternatives to choose from on the right hand side. Here we will choose Clarity because it seems to match the retro style.

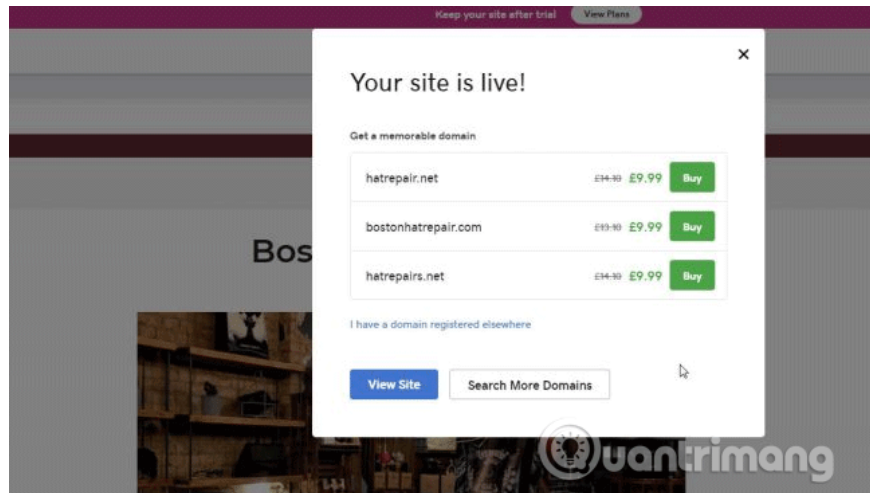

4. Shades and colors

The pages created by this system have GoDaddy's mostly green default color. You can select the color picker on the right to select a different color. Here we will choose dark red. You will immediately see the difference with the prototype site.

If you don't want to use a color picker, you can enter RGB Hex code if you know the specific color code.

5. Title font

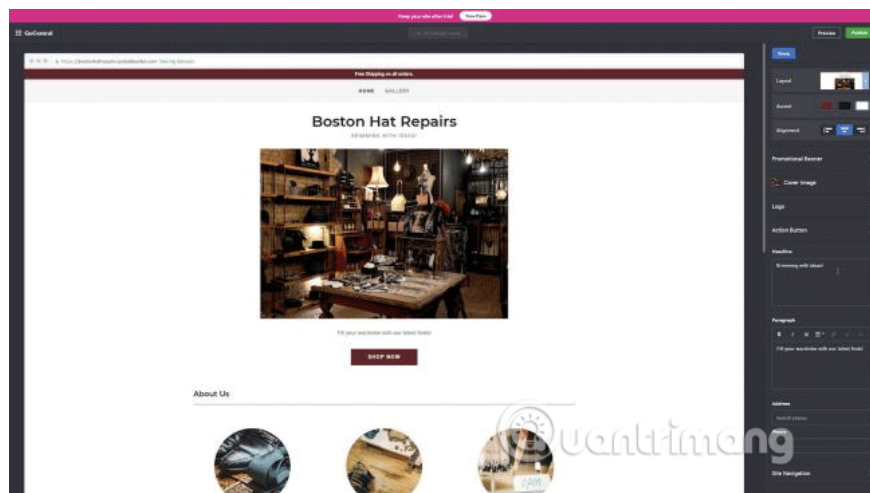

GoDaddy will give you the domain name with many appropriate options. If you don't like these domain names, you can search for alternative solutions by clicking the Search More Domains button.

8. Enter content for the website

Currently, the website has only three pages and no words, so it's time to add content to the page by clicking Edit.

To change the content or style of the website, click on the page and then on the right you will see options that allow you to edit.

9. Add sections on the page

Each page is broken down into segments and to add a new section, simply use the + Add Section button between these sections. When you click on this button, you can choose one of the categories like Blog, Video, Featured Categories, etc. from the menu.

10. Calendar

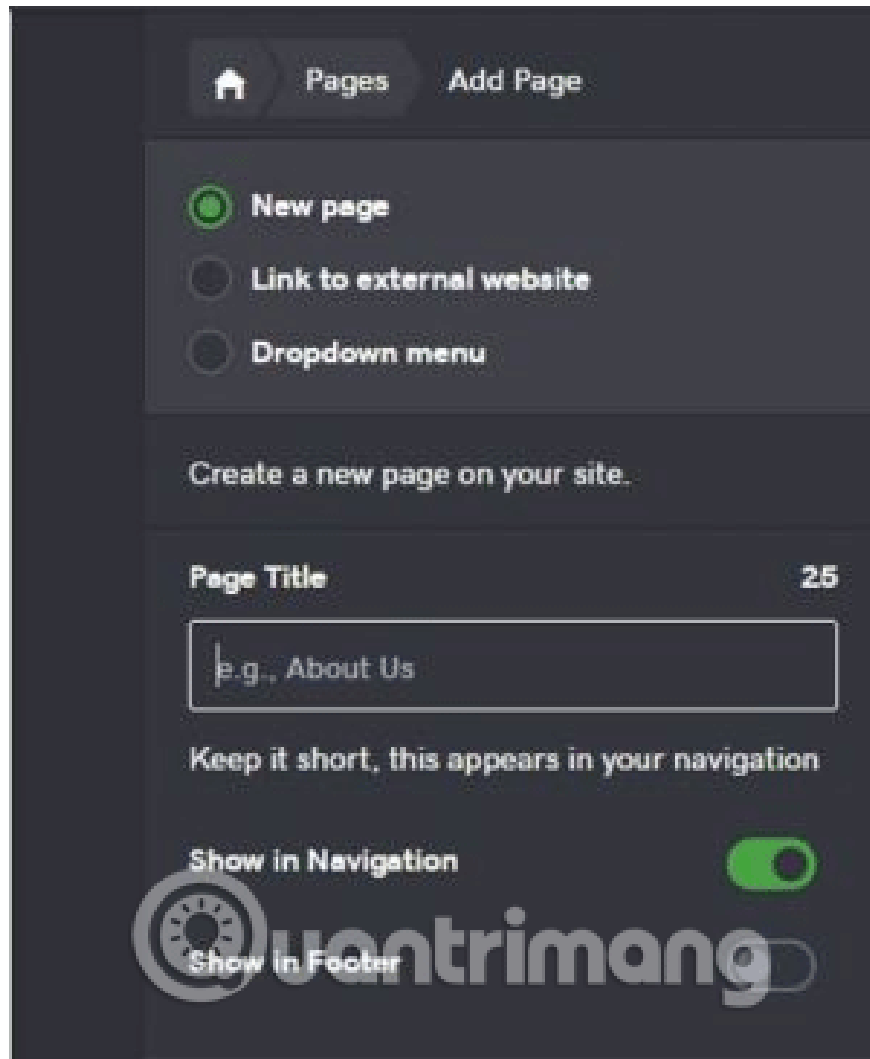

From the sections, you can add calendars linked to Google or you can create a unique calendar for the site and add any event you want.

This web tool has a multitude of options for sections, with photo galleries, e-commerce and blogs.

11. Add pages to the website

If only three pages are a little bit small, we will add some other pages by clicking Pages at the top of the menu and it will display the page you need.

At the top is the Add page button that allows you to add a new page, and link to an external website and drop-down menu.

The new page will be automatically included in the site's navigation system and then you can add any part you want to the site after creating.

12. Install

On the top menu, when you click on the house icon on the right, you will see three Theme options, Pages and Site Settings.

Inside Site Settings are all control tools that make the page work. It also provides means to analyze website traffic and links to social networking accounts.

Although other website construction methods provide more detailed site controls, the GoDaddy Website Builder's raw website creation speed is undeniable.
