Step 2:

On the shared photo album page, click on the green plus icon in the top right corner of the interface to create a new photo album.

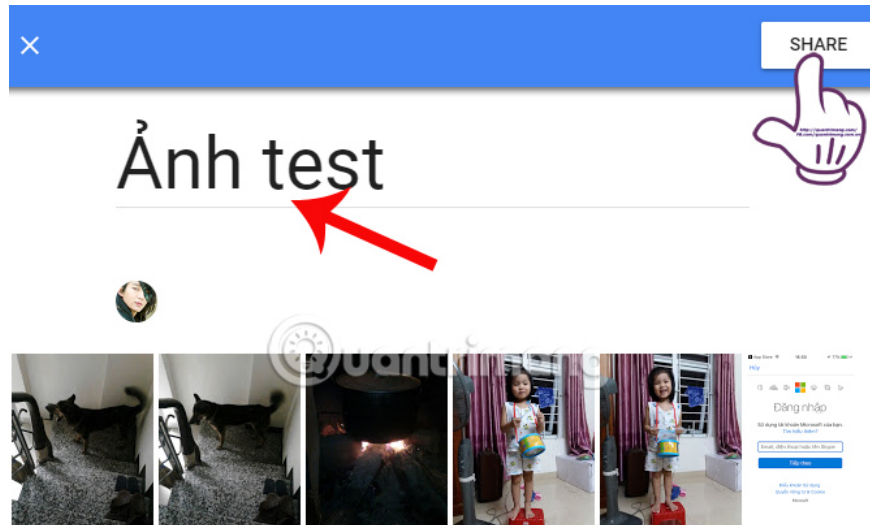

Step 3:

In the image interface in the personal Google Photos account, users will select the image to create a shared album and then click the Create button (Create) in the top right corner of the interface.

Step 4:

Then, you will name this shared photo album and then click the Share button in the top right corner of the interface.

Step 5:

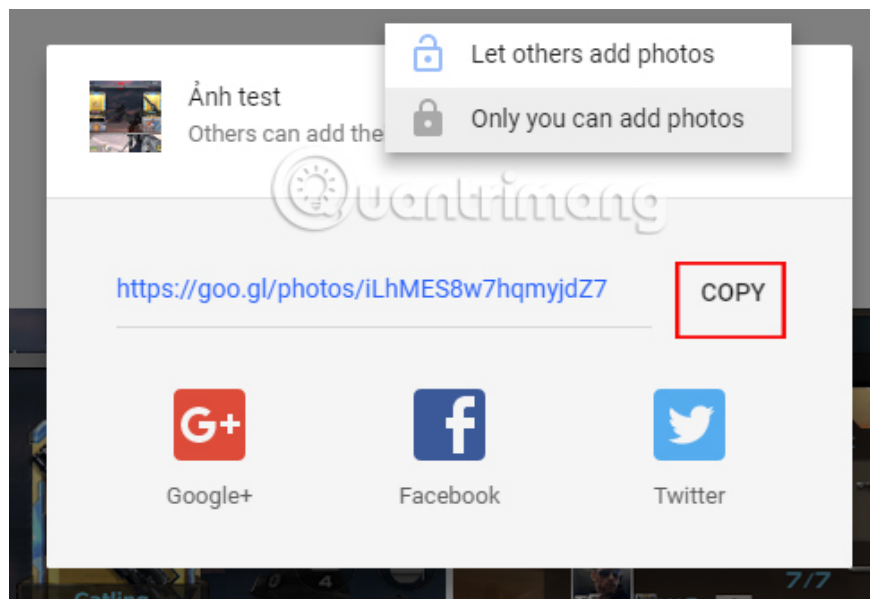

Google Photos appears a new album sharing options panel. We can choose to share albums with Gmail accounts at Suggestions section. Or share via social network Facebook, Twitter, Google+.

If the person you want to share the album with is not in the proposal, you can enter the email address in the To section.

Alternatively, click Get link to get the URL of the album sharing URL. Anyone who receives this album URL link has access. We will copy the album link and send it to everyone. Here, Google Photos also has the option to set additional photos to share albums.

Click on the padlock icon and there are 2 options: anyone can add a photo to the album (Let others add photos) or only you are allowed to add photos to the album (Only you add photos).

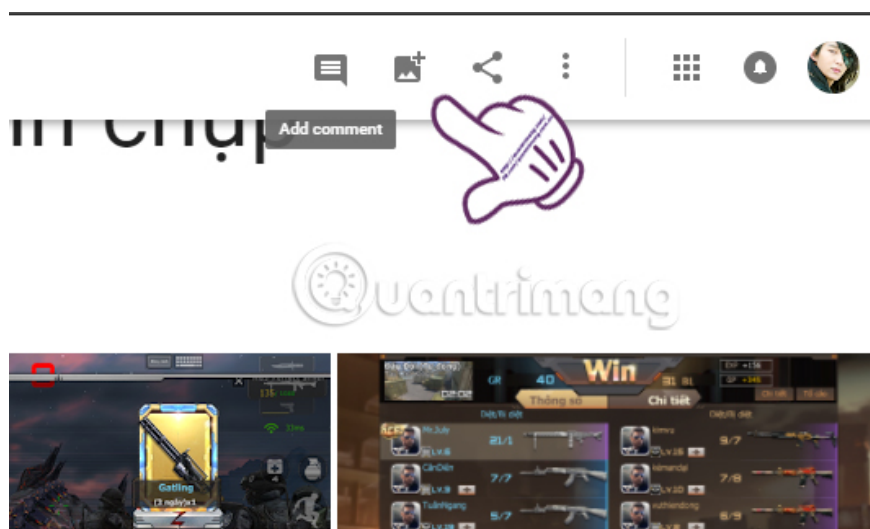

2. Manage shared albums on Google Photos:

Google Photos offers many options for created photo albums like adding comments to each album, sharing photos, downloading photos, .

Step 1:

At Google Photos interface, you also click on the 3 dash icon and select Shared (Shared). The list of shared albums appears. You click on the album in the list.

In the album interface in the top right corner of the screen, we will see 3 icons corresponding to 3 options, including Add comment (Create comment on album), Add to album (Add photo to album) and Share (Share share).

For example, to add a comment to an album , you will enter a comment in the box below the screen. At that time, those who share the album will also see this comment. Click the 3 vertical dots icon and choose Next Delete comment to delete the album comment if you want.

Step 2:

Continue, click on the 3 dots icon to expand the options for the album like Slideshow (Slideshow album), Download all (Download all photos in the album), Set album cover (Place album cover), .

Especially when clicking the Sharing options option, we will have some additional options. You can copy the album sharing link at Link to share, turn on or turn off the photo album collaboration feature (Collaborate), everyone comments on the album (Comment).

Step 3:

As for Share , when you turn off the album sharing feature, it will take all the album comments, collaborative photos added by others.

If you reopen the right to share that photo album, we will get a completely new photo album URL. Those links will continue to change if the user turns off sharing rights and then turns it back on.

Above is how to create shared albums on Google Photos, as well as how to manage shared albums. Just by creating a link to the album URL, we can easily share Google Photos album with a huge number of photos to any Gmail or Facebook address.

I wish you all success!
