Telegram introduces sticker editor

Telegram announced the new feature on April 14, 2024 in a post on the Telegram blog. This feature is available to all users regardless of whether they subscribe to Telegram Premium or not.

This free tool allows cutting out objects from photos to create stickers, along with editing capabilities like adding text, adjusting image exposure, adding additional pre-made stickers, and drawing on the image image.

While the platform previously allowed users to upload custom stickers to Telegram, the update will streamline the process and allow the creation of sticker packs without leaving the app.

How to create your own custom stickers on Telegram

It's simple to get started with the new sticker maker. But make sure you have updated the app to the latest version.

This tool works similarly to creating stickers on the WhatsApp application. To get started, open a chat, tap the emoji icon to the left of the chat box, and switch to the Stickers tab . You will see a + icon that allows you to add a new sticker.

You may need to give Telegram access to your camera and gallery if you haven't already done so. You can then choose an image from your camera roll.

Telegram will load the image. If you want to cut an object to make a sticker, wait for the Cut Out an Object window to appear. Select this option and then tap the object you want to cut.

Once the sticker has been edited, tap the check mark icon. Then, there will be the option to send the sticker or save it to the sticker set that appears. You can also add it to your favorites if you want.

When you press send, the sticker will appear in the chat. You should note that recipients can forward stickers to other chats, so be sure not to use any personal images that you don't want displayed elsewhere on Telegram.

And that's all you need to do to start creating your own stickers on Telegram. It's now easier than ever to start creating unique sticker packs.

Hope you are succesful.
