1. Delete the text located in a simple position with Photoshop Online

To access the website using Photoshop Online, click the following link: Photoshop Online

First, to delete the text on the image, you need to open that image in Photoshop online. You click on Open Image From Computer to upload photos on your computer to this online photo editor.

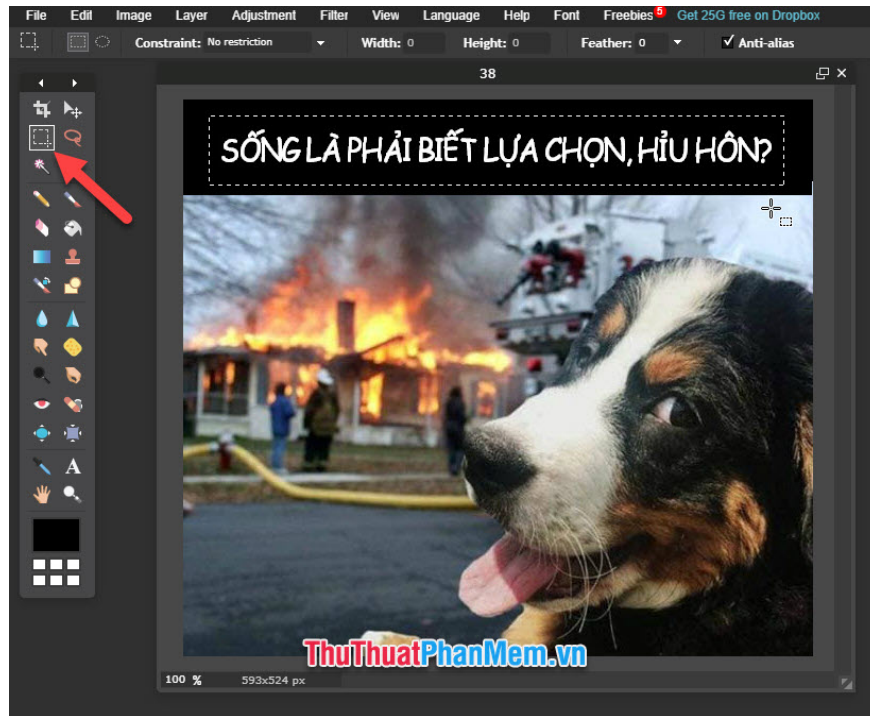

After the image is uploaded you will see it appear in such a window in the Preview space and now you can use Photoshop Online's tools to interactively edit with your photos. .

First you need to create another layer of lights above your existing photo layer by clicking on the New Layer icon in the right column.

Then click on the Marquee Tool selection icon to make a selection on the text you want to delete. You should choose an entire area is okay.

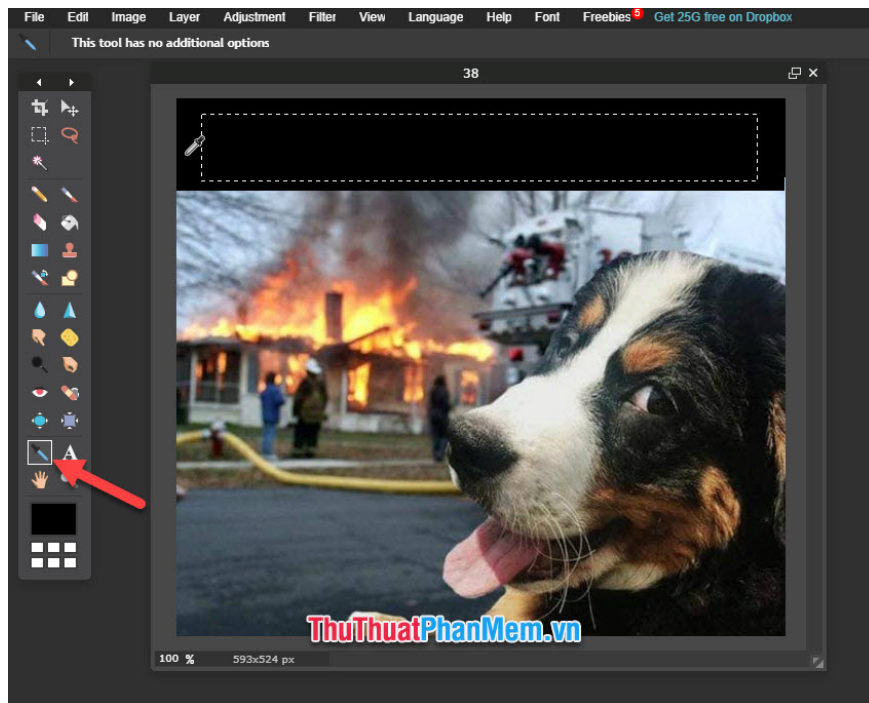

Next, click on the Paint bucket tool icon and then proceed to fill the selected area. Note that the Paint bucket tool can color over the entire area you have chosen (because you are currently painting on a completely new layer, your color area is not limited by any color borders. different), so the color you choose will be determined by the color in the tray.

The color in the color tray is always default to black, so when TipsMake fills the selection in the example, there is no need to change the color anymore because the color around the text is black.

But if it is a color other than black, then before changing the color you can change it accordingly by clicking on the Colorpicker tool icon on the toolbar and then click on the location to get the color.

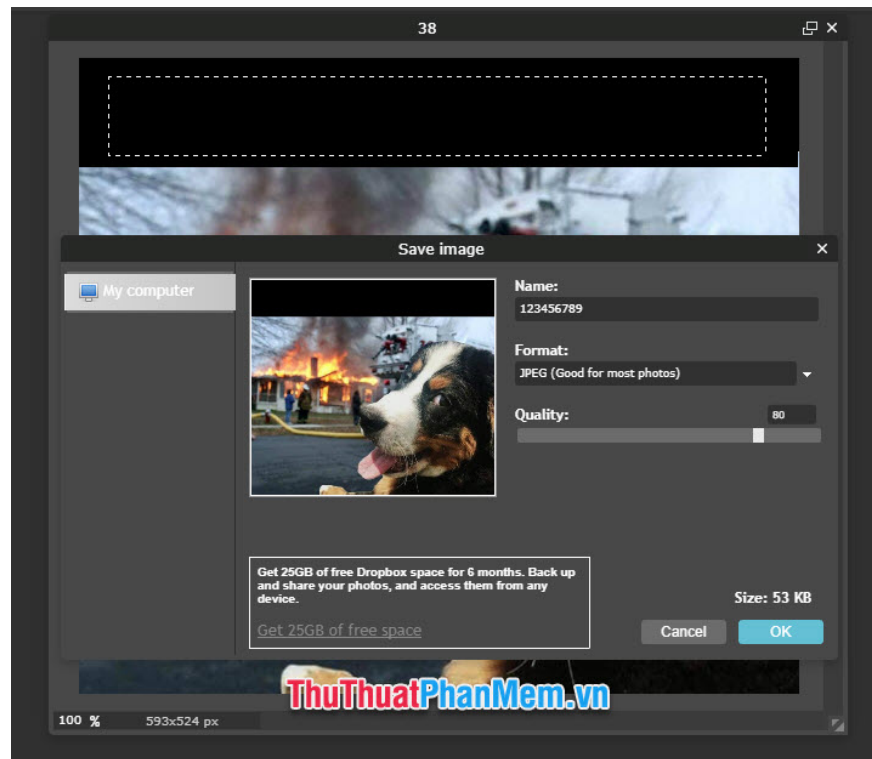

So you will get the color at that location into the color tray of Photoshop online.

After erasing the word, you proceed to save the image by clicking File on the horizontal toolbar, then select Save.

You enter a name for the image, choose the image format and image quality, and then click OK to save the image to your computer.

2. Delete text in complex positions with Photoshop Online

In Part 1 we learned how to delete text in simple positions, ie those that have a solid background. In part 2, we will learn how to delete words in a bit more difficult position, at this location we can not use the method of monochrome fill as part 1.

Take the following example:

The first step is to duplicate the photo you want to delete.

You click on the Layer and select Duplicate layer to create a copy layer just above the original layer.

Next, click on the Polygonal lasso tool icon to make a selection around the text you want to delete.

In this case we do not use the Marquee Tool because the Marquee Tool is a function to create a wide area of ?? the square, but now we only want to create an area around the text, the smaller the better, the less it will spread to the other background. the better.

Next, you create a selection around the word to be deleted, remember to click carefully meticulously as much as the image after deletion will be more genuine.

After you have made a selection around the text, hover over the border of the selection and drag it to another position that may be right below or right next to the text area, as long as the selected position can cut. out and overwrite the last text area without your image being cropped.

Next you move to the Move tool function on the vertical toolbar.

You click on the selection and crop the image in the selection drag up to overlap the text you want to delete.

Then you can see the text has been removed from the image by taking the image elsewhere inserted in the image to overwrite the text.

Finally, you only need to save the image as part 1.
