

How to Fix Clipboard History Error in Windows 11 Latest Update

If you've upgraded to Windows 11 version 24H2, you may have noticed that some things aren't working as expected. For example, if you use Clipboard History to store data for later use, there's a small chance that the data will remain empty no matter what you try.

Luckily, while Microsoft is working on a fix, there are still ways to work around this issue.

Clipboard History of Some Users Is Corrupted in Windows 11 24H2

As discovered by Windows Latest, the Clipboard History feature may be broken after you install the Windows 11 24H2 update. Instead of remembering everything you copy, the Clipboard History feature will claim that you haven't copied anything. No matter how many times you copy something, Windows 11 will refuse to add it to your history.

Fortunately, affected users have reported the bug to Microsoft, so it's likely that the company is working on a fix. The good news is that you don't have to wait for an official fix to get this feature working again.

How to fix Clipboard History error on Windows 11 24H2

This bug won't affect every PC running Windows 11, so you don't need to perform the fix on every computer you have. Even if you are affected, luckily the fix is ??easy to implement.

According to Windows Latest, you can fix this by opening the Settings panel. Click System , then Clipboard . Turn off Suggested Actions , then open Clipboard History with Windows key + V. You should now see the previously copied items and can turn Suggested Actions back on without corrupting the clipboard again.

If that doesn't work, try turning both Clipboard History and its device sync options on and off. And if none of that works, don't worry; there are still ways to fix Clipboard History errors on Windows 11.

You finished reading the article "How to Fix Clipboard History Error in Windows 11 Latest Update" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.