Office activation error 0xc004c060

1. Run the Office Activation Troubleshooter

If the user encounters error code 0xC004C060 while trying to activate the Windows 10 key, run the Office Activation Troubleshooter. This tool can help identify and solve problems automatically.

After completing the steps, restart the Windows 10 PC and check to see if the problem is fixed.

Run the Office Activation Troubleshooter to detect and solve problems

2. Update your Office installation

Set up Windows 10 to receive notifications about updates for Microsoft Office, then check for those updates. You can also update your Microsoft Office toolkit manually.

Install the updates and then try again.

3. Contact your license vendor

If you still cannot solve the problem, the final solution is to contact the seller and ask them to refund your product key.

In fact, some are dishonest sellers. They sell stolen or broken product keys for a low price. And if you purchased the product key separately from the software, it is likely that they have been corrupted or stolen. Consequently, the product key is blocked and cannot be used.

4. Contact Microsoft support to correct error code 0xC004C060

Unfortunately, if none of the above workarounds fix the problem, you should contact Microsoft support. Before contacting Microsoft support and requesting additional help, you must ensure that you have purchased a genuine license from Microsoft or through an authorized seller.

After contacting Microsoft support, tell them about the error code 0xC004C060 and ask them to activate your license key. If you purchased the key from an authorized Microsoft agent, they can activate it.
