Sometimes it is not difficult to check the relationship of that person and you like you think. Just through the way the two people hold hands are somewhat predictable. Fist is a simple action, but giving a great feeling to couples, especially through this action can reveal exactly their relationship.

If you've ever loved someone, you will definitely understand how great it is to walk with your partner in your arms. You may not know but these small actions can reveal many things about the relationship and the stage that you are going through. On the Bright Side page invite you to find out the true meaning behind the different types of fist and see which case you are in!

1. The palm of the hand is facing down

If you hold hands in this way, it means that your combination is based on sincere feelings, not a temporary passion. The two of you want to have a sustainable relationship together towards a long and lasting future. It also shows that anyone who puts their hand downwards has a stronger personality, often more creative and assertive.

2. The fingers intertwine

This is the type of fist that expresses passion and the close connection between the two . Both understand, stick and want to share everything together. When holding hands like this, it is important that both of them hold each other's hands tightly. But it would be bad if the hands were intertwined, but only one side was clenched and one was loose. It shows that they are indifferent to this relationship and only one side tries.

3. Hold a finger

Do not rush to think that this way of holding hands is not emotional, it shows respect for each other's own, independent lives . Couples who hold hands in this way often have a habit of respecting the opponent's space and privacy. They love but do not want to bind and control the enemy. It is this way that makes both people feel more comfortable in emotion.

Besides, this way of holding hands also gives you more opportunities. Perhaps it is not a deep bond, the level of affection is not too deep. If one day the two of you feel unsuitable to go far, stop being a friend is not difficult.

4. A handle, a hand held tightly

Sad to say, this way of holding hands shows that your relationship is hard to sustain . It seems that the holder is feeling uneasy and must find a way to hold the other person close to him. It shows that a person wants to possess, control, control the enemy to a level of madness, while a person seems quite indifferent. Surely if you are the one who is holding hands in this way, you are weaker and will be very painful if the other half is away.

5. Put on your hands

This is the way most couples use it when traveling together to some events. However, if this is the way they hold hands each day, then the relationship is a little difficult . The person holding this hand seems to be feeling insecure, unsafe, needs protection from the enemy in this relationship.

6. Hold your fingers and pull gently

This way of holding hands is a sign that the relationship between the two is not good . Raising the hand first with desire and trying to make the partner make a faster decision. It may be a sign that one of the two is tired of this relationship. All that is left now is just a hope from the other person.

7. Do not hold hands

If your partner avoids holding hands, that could be a sign that he or she doesn't feel comfortable with you. Of course, it is inevitable that if they do not hold hands, they are shy, wanting to secure their personal space or fear to bother you . especially with those relationships that have just begun. Therefore, do not rush to make a decision or give up, now you should consider many other factors to evaluate the current relationship of two people.
