In Battle Royale Call of Duty Mobile mode, in addition to confronting the surrounding enemies, you also have a terrorist target which is the hell dog Cerberus. The monster came out of Greek myth.

You can use the normal weapons received when entering the Call of Duty code or redeeming the code Call of Duty Mobile. Here is information about Cerberus and how to destroy it.

Where is Cerberus on the Battle Royal Call of Duty Mobile map?

Unlike other monsters in PUBG Mobile like Tyrant or Licker or G-Virus. You must land on the map before these monsters appear. They only appear at a set time.

Meanwhile, in Call of Duty Mobile, when you have not found a meeting place, Cerberus is already on the map. On the map, you will see a very clear red dot on it, this is the residence of the monster Cerberus.

Cerberus in Call of Duty Mobile has a different shape than the image of Cerberus that we often see in movies or on other Greek mythological pages. Cerberus here only has a head and their skin has parts that are open, like zombies, and you will see in the peeled flesh there will be fire there.

Cerberus has great strength, it can fly to your location nearby and snatch you. In addition, this "dog" can create huge explosions that make you lose a lot of blood.

How to kill Cerberus?

Though dangerous, Cerberus can still be defeated by conventional weapons. You can use the Scythe machine gun in the Antelope A20 Assault vehicle, which has just been added in Battle Royale mode.

Although this is not a suitable weapon for newbie because the accuracy is not high. But in this case, there is probably no more suitable weapon to defeat Cerberus.

All you need to do is get in the car and use the Scythe to shoot it, if you see the puppy approaching you just jump out of the car and run away. By repeating the process, you will defeat the puppy.

If you are traveling with a teammate, lure him by letting one guy lure the Cerberus away and the other sitting in the car and shooting at it. At that time, the Call of Duty Mobile fire dog will become "a dog".

Also remember that Cerberus is not the only threat to you right now. Around you will be quite a lot of enemies coming to have fun with you and your puppy. Because everyone saw Cerberus's location, there was no doubt that the number of enemies present in this position was not small.

What's worse is that there are gamers who are just waiting for you to destroy Cerberus, waiting for you to be caught off guard when loot items, then destroy you and then loot what Cerberus dropped. So let's investigate the situation before pouring in to fight Cerberus.
