How to make rabbit hair tie

Step 1:

You cut the cloth into a small piece of cloth about 10cm wide, about 50cm long.

Step 2:

Apply glue to the inside surface, along the edge of the length of the cloth.

Step 3:

Stick the edges of the cloth together. Without glue you can use stitches. Note that you should choose only the same color as the fabric so that the thread is not exposed.

Then use scissors to cut off the excess fabric.

Step 4:

When the fabric glue is dry, turn the cloth over to get the outside surface, forming a tight cloth with a long circle like the picture.

Step 5:

You cut a piece of rubber band about 8cm long and then pin it to one end of the rubber band.

Step 6:

Next, place the rubber band on the inside of the cloth. Tape pins work to help you thread your rubber band more easily and quickly.

Step 7:

After the thread is finished, you tie the two ends of the knot.

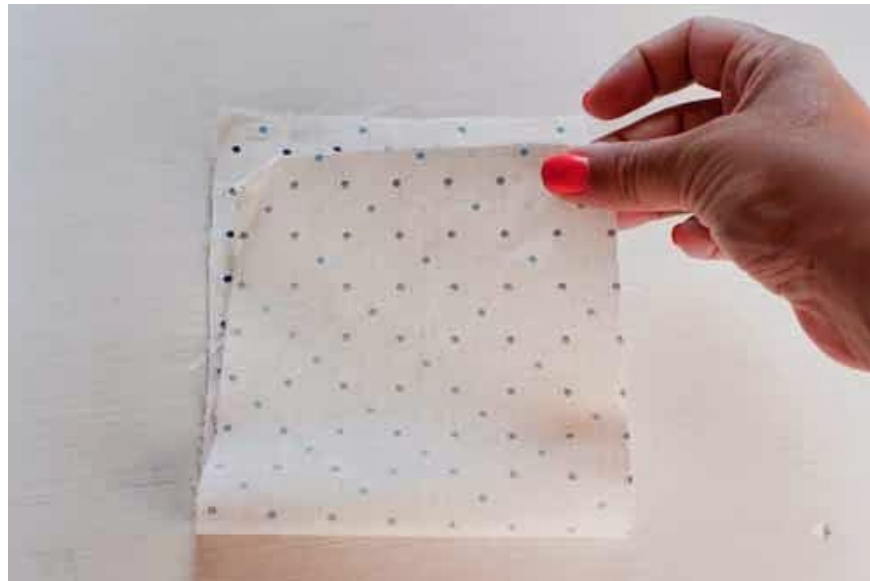

Then, use fabric glue to stick the ends of the cloth together to form a complete hair-tied chun.

Step 8:

To make rabbit ears, cut a piece of cloth 30cm long, 15cm wide.

Step 9:

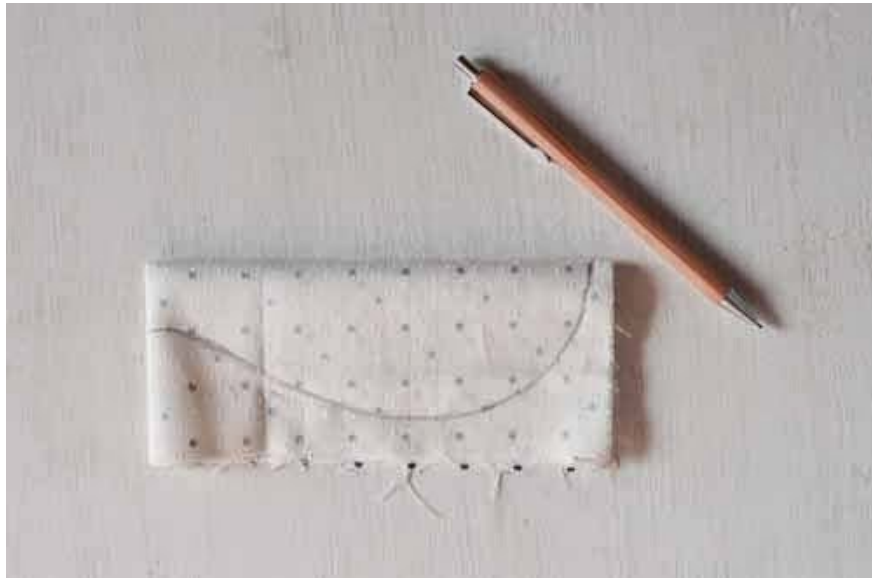

Flip the inside of the piece out and fold the cloth in half, so that the two widths overlap.

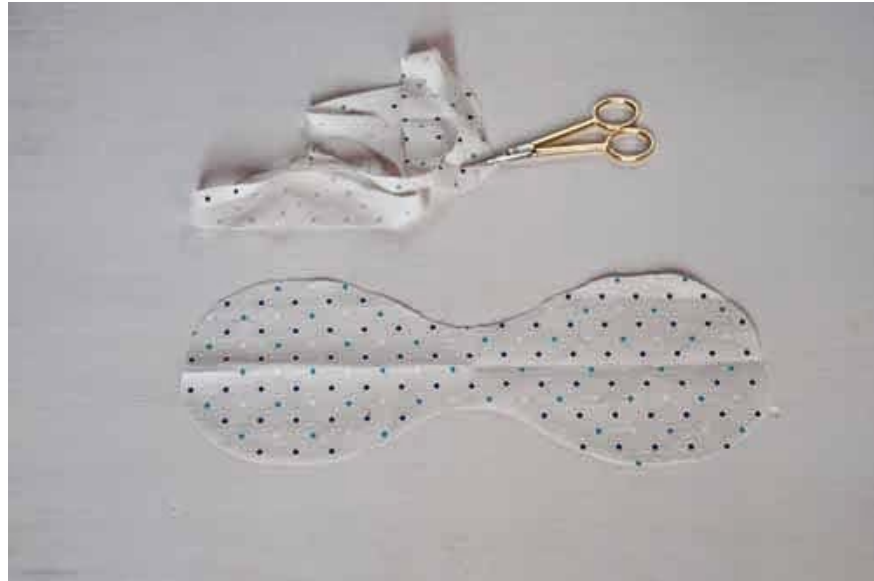

Continue to fold the fabric as shown.

Step 10:

Draw an arc as shown on the cloth.

After that, take the scissors along the contour and you will get a cloth with a bow shape.

Step 11:

Apply glue around the edge of the bow on the front of the cloth (leave the cloth on the ends of the bow).

Then double the cloth as shown.

Step 12:

Wait for the glue to dry, turn the right side of the cloth out.

Cut a small piece of steel, slip into the bow so that the rabbit ears can stand up. Then apply glue to the ends of the bow.

Step 13:

Tuck the bow tie to hold the hair strap and then tighten it to form a rabbit ear shape.

So you have an extremely cute rabbit ear hair band.

This handmade rabbit hair tie is very suitable for you to give to your sister or close friend on the upcoming Vietnamese Women's Day October 20.
