Instructions for moving many applications on iOS

To move many applications on iOS we operate as follows:

Step 1:

At the device's application interface, click and hold on any application icon until it starts shaking. Particularly for devices that support 3D Touch, you should pay attention not to press too hard or activate this feature, just touch and hold is enough.

Step 2:

When the "X" icon appears in the application, you can click and drag any icon to move it around the Home screen (drag the circle icon, this is a must).

Step 3:

To add another application, use your other finger to touch the icon of the app you want to add but still have to press and hold the first icon. That means we need to manipulate 2 fingers simultaneously (selected apps will merge into one finger and we can move it more easily). Do the same to add other applications you want to move.

Step 4:

Now you can drag these groups of applications to any location you want on the Home screen.

Note: When you release your finger, the icons in this group will pop out in reverse order when you add them to the group before moving.

Hopefully, with the procedure of changing the icon position, moving many iOS applications that the Network Administrator has just introduced, you can quickly arrange to change the icon positions on your phone in a way Suitable, most eye-catching and convenient during use.

I wish you all success.
