Tips to help you know the common page numbering in Word. As well as page numbering from any page in the document. Good luck!

Nearly every study or work document needs page numbers and indexes to make it easy to look up and read. In all versions of Word from 2003, 2007, 2010, 2013, you support page numbering. However, to use proficiently, many people do not know how, then this article will be very helpful for you.

In this tutorial on page numbering in Word, I will guide the following:

1. Normal page numbering: ie, page numbering from the first page to the last page, seamlessly ignoring no pages.
2. How to page numbers from any page in Word 2007, 2010 and 2013: When you need to paginate a page from any page (any position in the document that is not the first page) . For example, you want to skip the first page without page numbering and start page numbering from the second page.

Normal page numbering

The version of Word 2003 is too old, so I do not want to mention in this article. From the versions of Word 2007, 2010 and 2013, the Metro interface is almost the same (Word 2013 is slightly different) so the page numbering on all 3 versions of Word is similar.

You follow the instructions below (Instructions on Word 2010)

Step 1: In the Menu bar, select to Insert Tab . Then navigate to Page Number .

Step 2: After doing step 1 Word will automatically number the page in the form of 1,2,3 . and start typing from number 1. If you want to change the two values ??above, continue to select the Page Number as above. , then select Format Page Numbers .

Tips for pagination from any page in Word 2007 and Word 2010

In Microsoft Word 2007 and 2010 it is almost the same operation, so I will give general instructions.

My laptop mic is recording poorly so it's hard to hear, hope you understand !!!

Step 1: Place the cursor in the page before the page you want to start numbering . Then on the Menu you choose to tab Page Layout . Then click Breaks and select Next Page.

Step 2: Double-click the footer - the section will number the page. You will see the Footer -Section 1- display on the pages you don't want numbered and Footer -Section 2- from the page you want to number the page to the last. Click on Footer -Section 2- then turn off Link to Previous in the Menu Bar.

Note: If you have done page numbering from the first page - the last page. Follow the instruction video to type from any page, and delete the number of pages on the first page!
