

Instructions for playing classic Arcade games on computer

If you love the old classic Arcade games, it's very simple, when we can play Arcade games right on the computer, through some websites.

If you love the old classic Arcade games, it's very simple, when we can play Arcade games right on the computer, through some websites. You just need to access the gaming websites and try your hand at classic games like Space Invaders, Sonic or Street Fighter.

Internet Arcade

<https://archive.org/details/internetarcade>

Internet Arcade has a collection of classic arcade games from the 1970s to the 1990s. There are over 2000 titles in total for you to try your hand at. Especially when you play games on Internet Arcade, you will not be bothered by ads.

 Street Fighter EX2 (Euro 980312)
by Capcom / Arika

The Free Video Games Project

<https://freevideogames.org/>

Arcade games on the site are relatively few, but users can still experience classic games like Pac-Man, Sonic and Donkey Kong or Pong, Asteroids and Frogger.

Free 80s Arcade

<https://www.free80sarcade.com/>

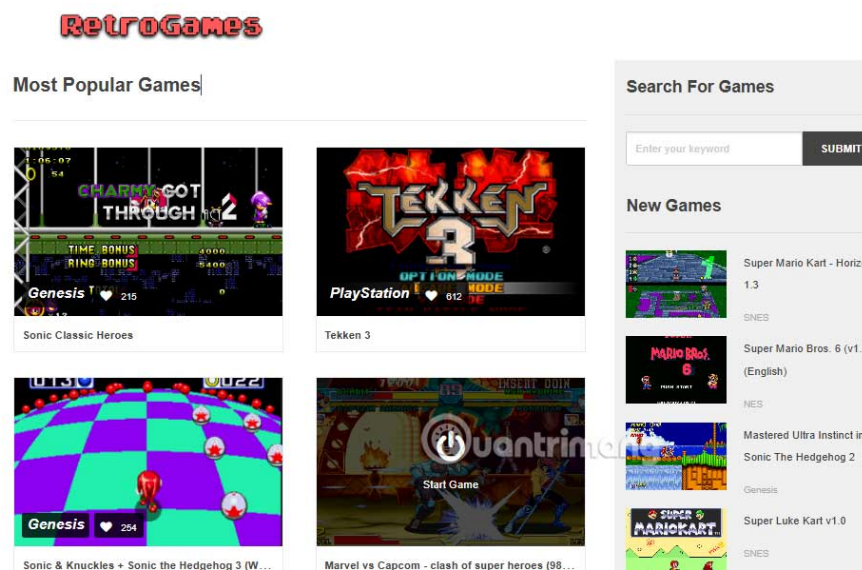

As the name suggests, Free 80s Arcade owns classic Arcade games from the 80s. The game catalog on Free 80s Arcade is extremely rich for players to freely choose according to their gaming preferences.

RetroGames

<https://www.retrogames.cc/>

RetroGames is a large website that has popular classic games displayed right on the interface for gamers to see. You can also access some sections to find other games.

Arcade Classics

1. Download Arcade Classics

Arcade Classics is a Chrome browser extension that features 9 classic games in the interface displayed from the extension interface. The extension saves all your game progress so we can play again whenever we want.

You finished reading the article "Instructions for playing classic Arcade games on computer" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.
