About BF2042

Battlefield 2042 background

BF 2042 will launch to gamers this fall on several popular platforms such as Xbox One, Series X, PS4, PS5 and PC via Origin, Steam, and the Epic Game Store. The game context will take place in a very messy and near future world, this is the world that gamers will experience in BF2042 according to EA:

In Battlefield 2042, the world is on the brink of war. Shortages of food, energy and clean water have led to the collapse of dozens of countries. Created the largest refugee crisis in human history.

In which a Non-Patriated task force or called No-Pats includes families, farmers, engineers and even soldiers. In the midst of this crisis, the United States and Russia have drawn the world into an all-out war. The No-Pats special forces joined both sides, not for a flag of either faction but for their own future.

Map

The new maps of BF2042 partly reflect the reality of the world right now. Includes an icy map of Antarctica, where factions vie for oil. The version of Doha - the capital of Qatar is submerged in a sandstorm like in Mad Max.

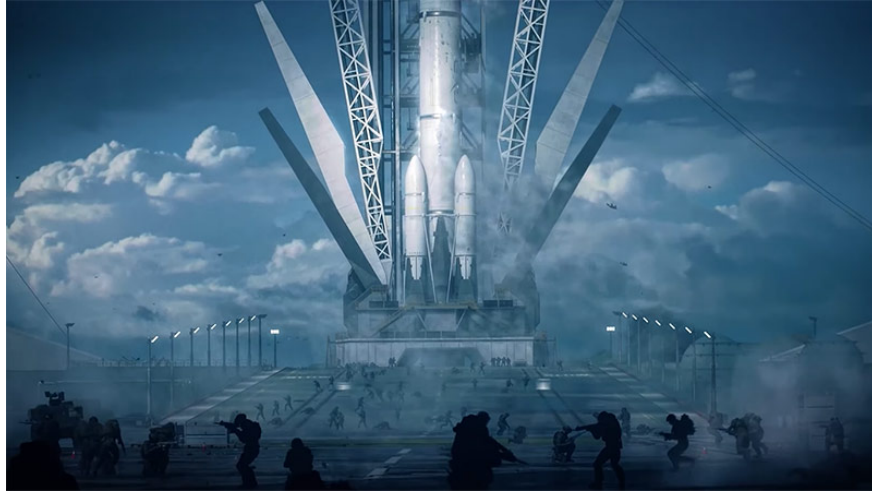

A dry seabed in India contains the remains of ships that have run aground. And a modern glittering metropolis in Korea, where the player must gain control of a quantum-powered information center. A map of where a rocket is about to launch into space.

This time, BF2042 will have more weather elements in the game. Most notably, a tornado in the game affects all players as well as other elements in the map.

Game mode

In the main game mode called "all-out warfare", the number of players will go up to 128 players if you are playing on PC, PS5 or Xbox Series X. For older gaming devices, the number of players. players will be reduced to 64.

In addition, 2042 will also have an additional team game mode called Hazard Zone - The danger zone that DICE emphasizes will not be Battle Royale. Along with that is an unannounced multiplayer mode. One thing that many gamers will feel quite regretful is that BF2042 will have absolutely no traditional single player mode (Single Player).

Release date BF2042

When it launches later this year, EA says that the game will operate as a service game with a seasonal Battle Pass. There are both paid and free, along with other new features in the game. BF2042 is expected to launch gamers on October 22, 2021.
