

According to the concept of folklore, Eve is the last time of the old year to transform yourself into the new year. According to the spiritual conception, every year, there will be a Mr. Hanh Giac looking after the humanity, all year old, the old gods will hand over the work to the new god who will replace each other to look after the world, therefore the offering of the new year is to see the old god and see the new god. Besides, the offering of New Year's Eve also means to remove all the bad things of the old year to welcome the good of the coming year. The ritual of worshipping ceremonies is also a ceremony to "subjugate demons", hence the word "exorcism".

The handover and reception of the work of the gods takes place very urgently, so they can only eat in a hurry or pass through the hearts of the owner. Therefore, the tray for worshipping Hanh Hanh is often placed outside the main door and the items to be prepared for the new offering include two incense pots, two candles or kerosene lamps, one bowl of salt, one bowl of rice, votive gold coins. . Besides, we need to prepare a little food so that gods can carry it such as pig or chicken, banh chung, sticky rice, candy and fruit.

New Year's Eve offerings

When the offerings are done outside, you start to worship in the house, the New Year's Eve offerings are equally important. The worship of an extravagant ancestor in the house is a ceremony to worship the ancestors of his family, praying that the ancestors and their ancestors will be able to support the family for a healthy new year, with many good things. In the ancient New Year's offerings, we need to prepare dishes on Tet holiday that are carefully processed, dignified and clean. Antique tray will be divided into 2 parts salty tray, sweet and vegetarian tray.

The salty part consists of banh chung, banh gio - cha, steamed gac - sticky green bean, chicken, bamboo shoots, fried spring rolls and other savory dishes depending on the family. The sweet and vegetarian part includes floral scent, candle light which is indispensable, in addition to Tet sweets, soft drinks and all kinds of Tet jams.

When worshipping New Year's Eve, all family members must be present in full, standing solemnly in front of the altar, joining hands and praying to the ancestors to obtain the blessing of the blessing and prosperity of the year. good health.
