

How to remove someone from a shared photo library on iPhone

In case you do not want to share your photo library on iPhone with someone on the list, you can delete them if you want.

To quickly send photos on iPhone to others, you can create a shared photo library on iPhone via iCloud when you can add as many people as you like. In case you do not want to share your photo library on iPhone with someone on the list, you can delete them if you want. The article below will guide you to delete someone from the shared photo library on iPhone.

Instructions for deleting someone from the shared photo library on iPhone

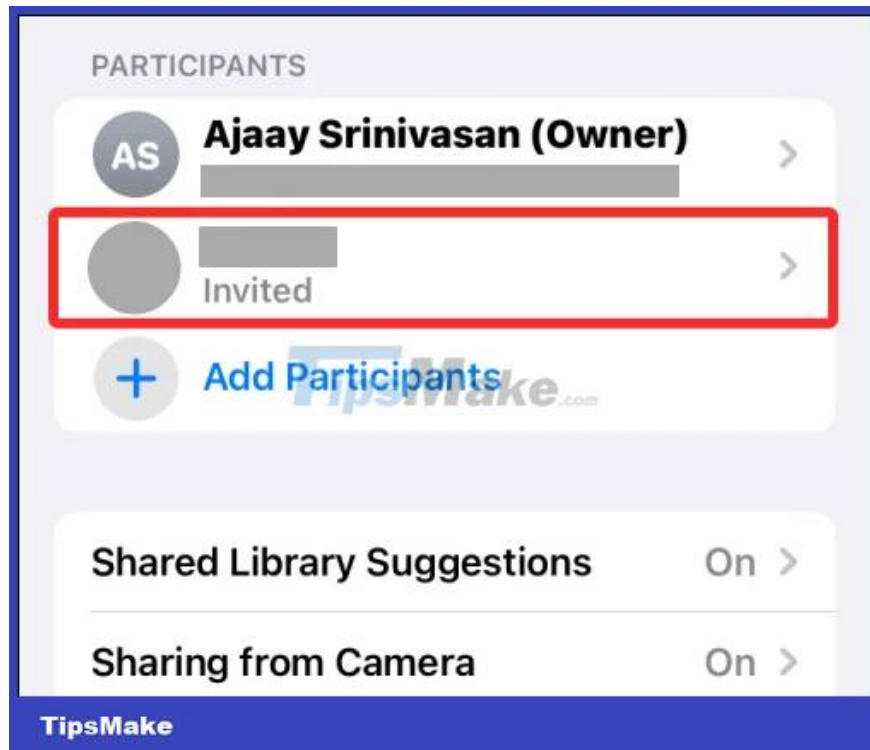

Step 1:

First, access Settings on your phone and then click on the Photos application. Switching to the new interface, users click on Shared Library as shown below.

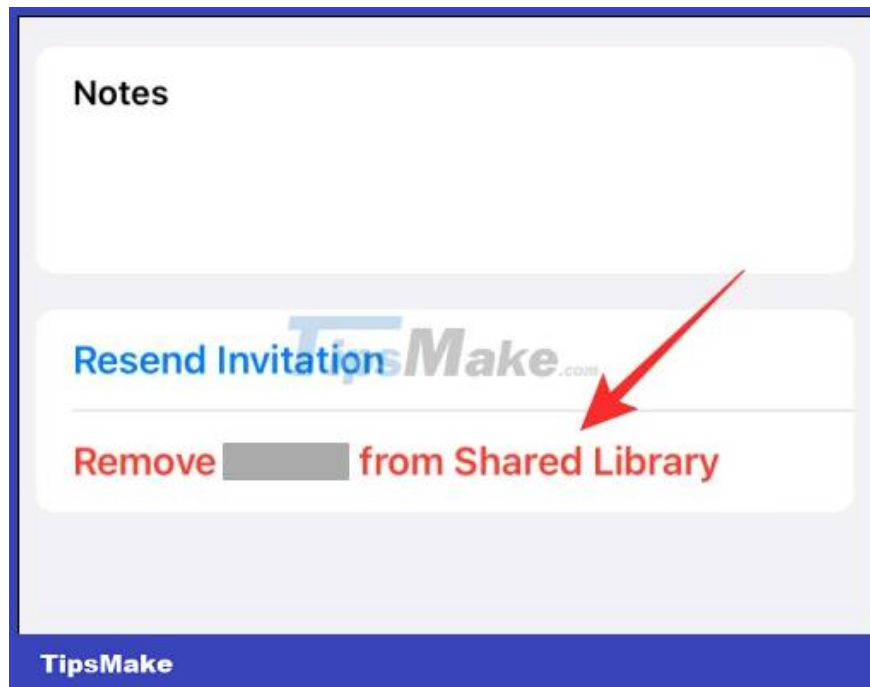

Step 2:

Displays a list of participants in photo libraries shared on iPhone using iCloud. Click on the person you want to remove from this list.

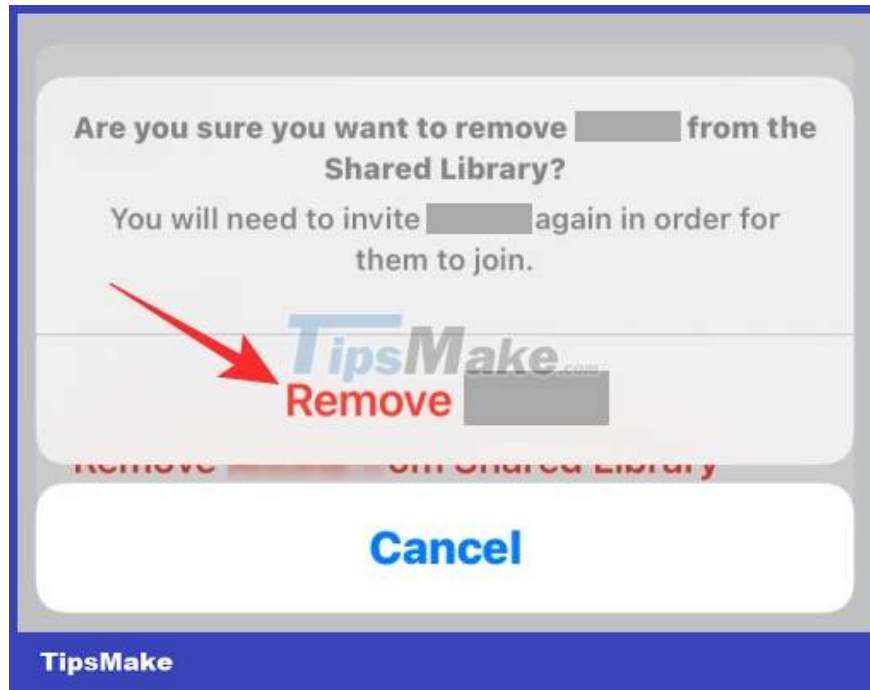

Step 3:

Switch to the new interface, click Remove from Shared Library to remove that person from the shared library list on iPhone using iCloud.

Immediately below the screen displays a message asking if you are sure you want to delete this person or not, click Remove to proceed with deletion.

After you remove someone from an iPhone shared library using iCloud, that person can only access shared content from their shared library if they've been in it for less than 7 days and their personal shared library when participating for more than 1 week.

You finished reading the article "How to remove someone from a shared photo library on iPhone" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.