

How to remove unwanted video suggestions on Youtube

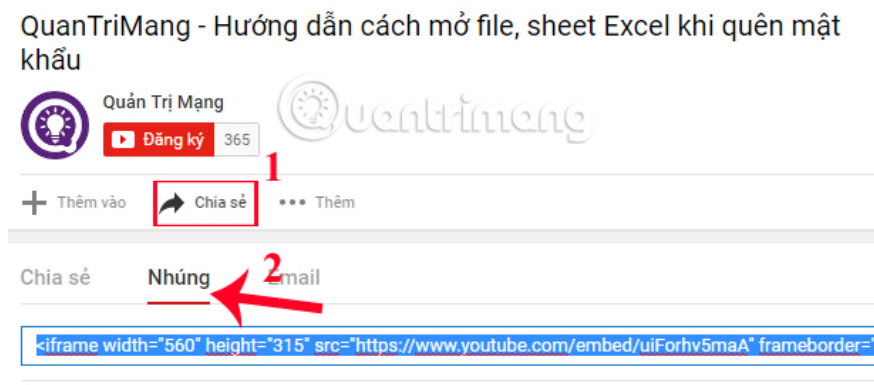

Suggested videos on YouTube are suggested videos as soon as the video has finished playing. Thus users can access any video without having to search. However, there are many cases where the video appears inappropriate and not related to the content of the previous video played on YouTube.

Suggested video is a video suggestion feature when it appears on the video screen interface that ends on Youtube. These videos will introduce and suggest to users of other videos without having to search or directly access the homepage to search for videos. However, many times these suggestive videos appear to have no relevant content nor are they related to previously released video content on Youtube.

Especially in case you want to insert a YouTube video on a website or blog, the feature of suggesting this video is sometimes unnecessary. In the following article, Network Administrator will show you how to turn off Suggest video suggestion videos on Youtube.

Step 1:

First of all, let's go to any YouTube video that we want to insert on our website or blog. At the main interface, click on Share (Share) and then select Embed (Embed) below the video.

Step 2:

Next, click the Show more button (Showmore) below the code frame to display some more options for the video.

Step 3:

When we scroll down, there are some options for the video. To turn off the video suggestion feature that appears, users un-tick the Show suggested videos when the video ends (Show suggestions videos when the video finishes).

In addition, the reader can uncheck the Show player controls if you want the video to insert without displaying the control bar, or uncheck Show the video title and the task of the player (Show video) title and player actions) to hide the name and author of the video.
