

How to reply to each individual message on Facebook Messenger

With the private messaging feature on Facebook Messenger, you will be able to reply to private messages in the chat group

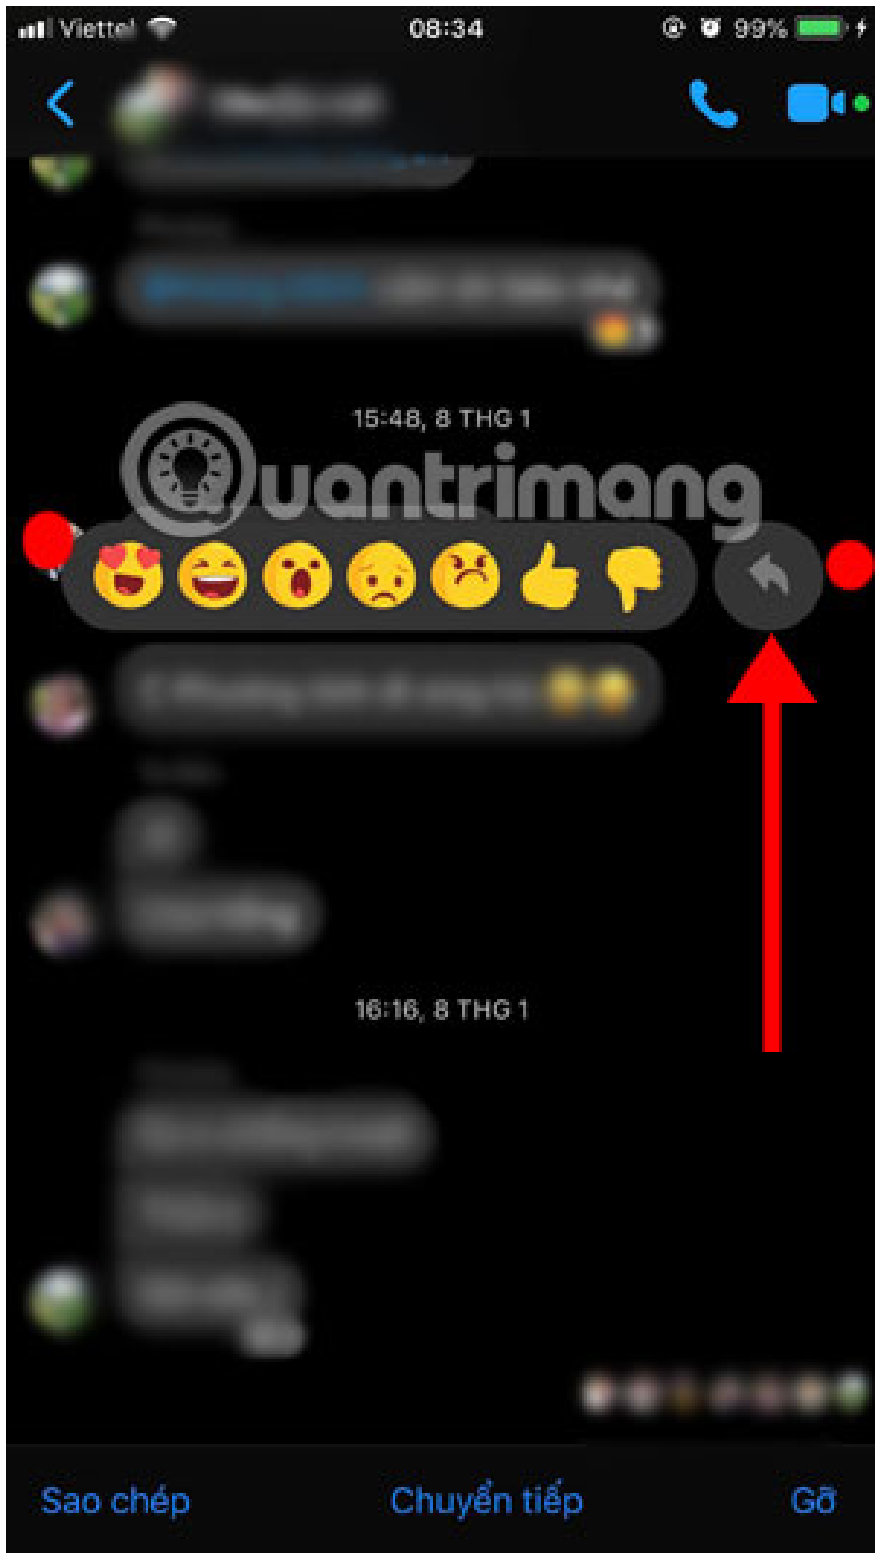

Not long ago, users experienced a dark interface version on Facebook Messenger called Dark Mode, today Facebook Messenger has updated users to reply to individual messages. This feature is very useful for users when using multiple chat groups.

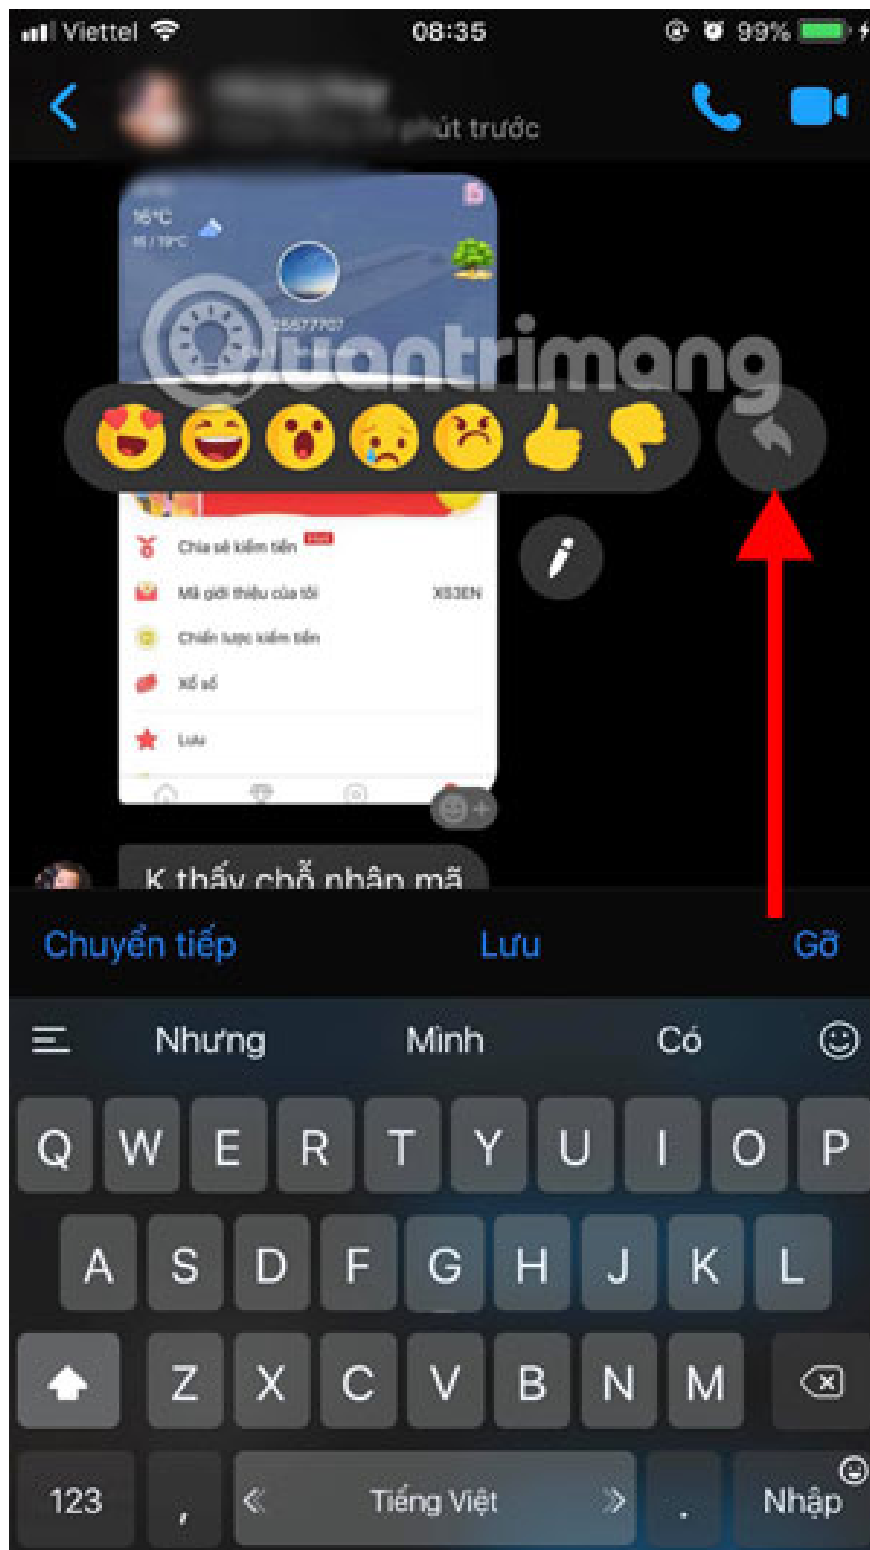

It will help you answer individual message of each person in the group when the chat has been floating up, for details of how this feature works, please see the instructions below this article.

1. How to delete all messages on Facebook Messenger with just one click
2. Disable Facebook but still send Messenger
3. How to call, video Facebook Messenger on mobile, tablet

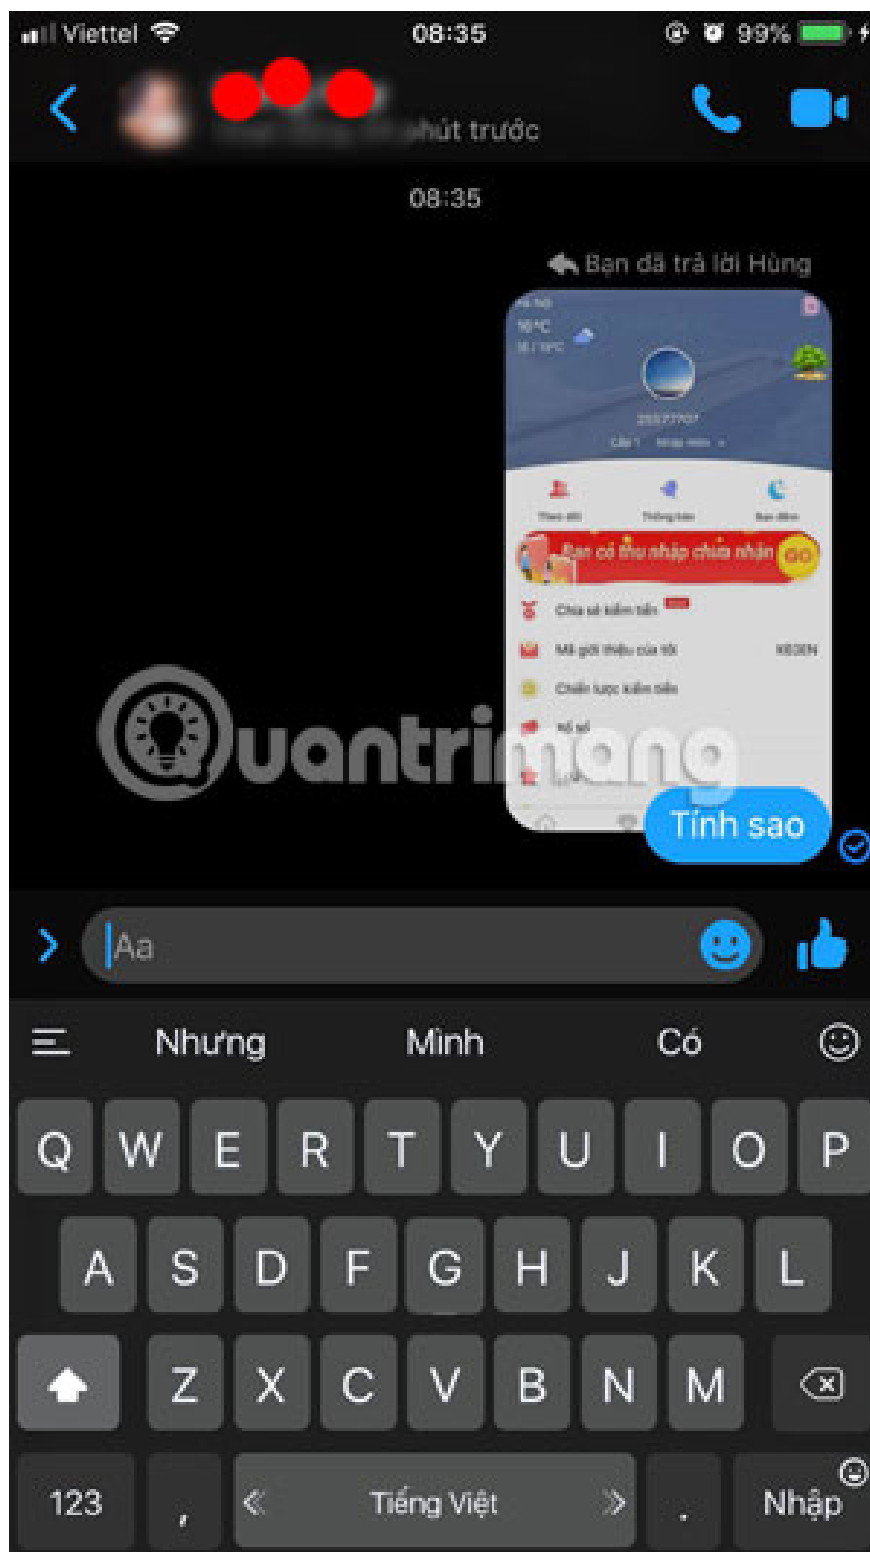

How to reply to each message on Facebook Messenger

Step 1: In the Facebook Messenger chat group, press and hold the message you want to reply to separately, followed by emoticons. Click the answer arrow icon next to the emoticon, in addition to answering the messages, you can also answer the photos in your chat.

Next the message will receive the answer attached below, the same images, all received the message answered below.

The benefit of this feature is to make the interaction in the chat group more distracting, to help users know who you are talking to or who to answer, limiting messages that are floating. This feature is quite similar to the message reply feature on Viber or compared to the Tweet Quote feature on Twitter.

If you find this Facebook Messenger private messaging feature useful, share it with your friends.
