One of the necessary actions to help you present beautiful and scientific text is to align the text according to the form and position of the text. This article helps you rotate the text direction as you like in Word.

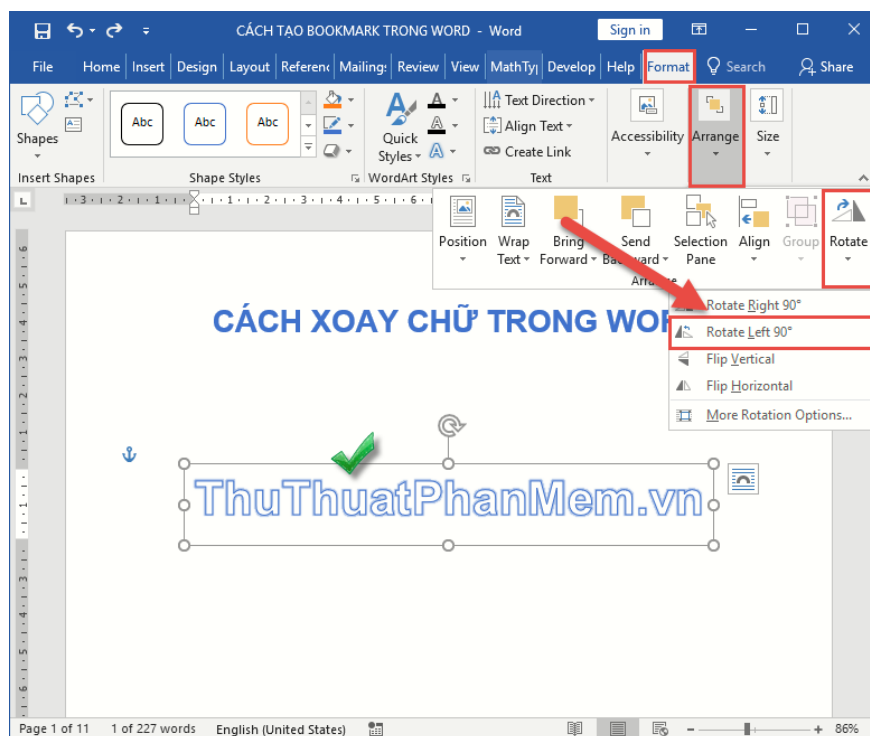

1. Rotate text direction with text as a specific object

To rotate text direction with text that is an object in Textbox or an art word, you do as follows:

Select the object to rotate -> go to Format -> Rorate -> select the rotation angle to suit your requirements with the following options:

- Rorate right 90: Rotate right 90 degrees
- Rorate left 90: Rotate left 90 degrees
- Flip Vertical: Rotate the text in the vertical direction
- Flip Horizontal: Rotate text horizontally.

The example here performs left rotation of the object 90 degrees:

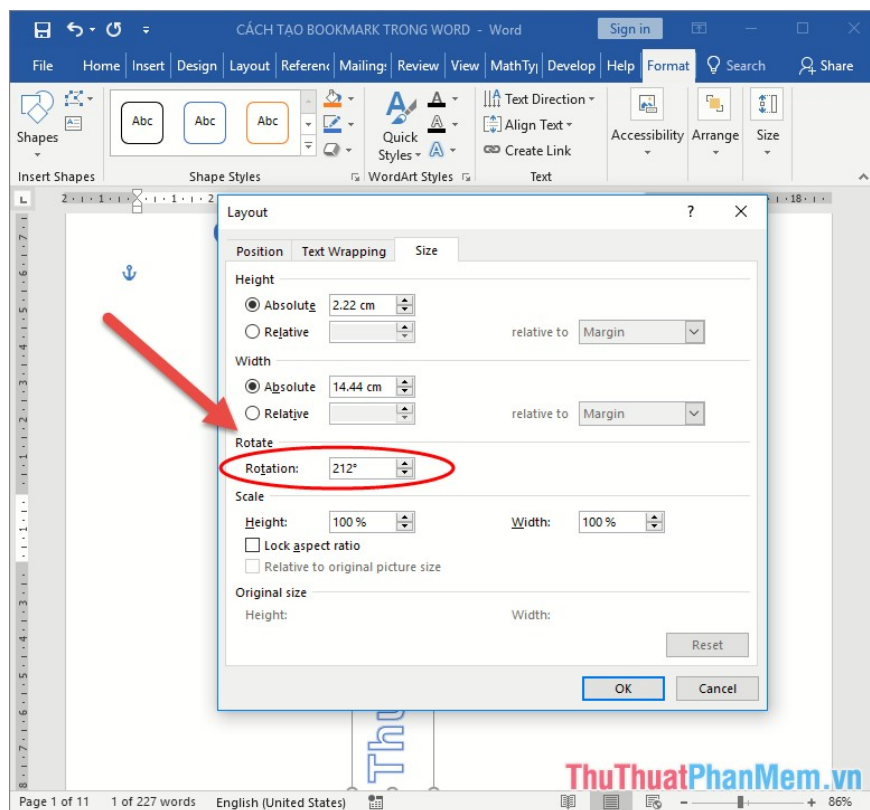

The results turned 90 degrees to the left:

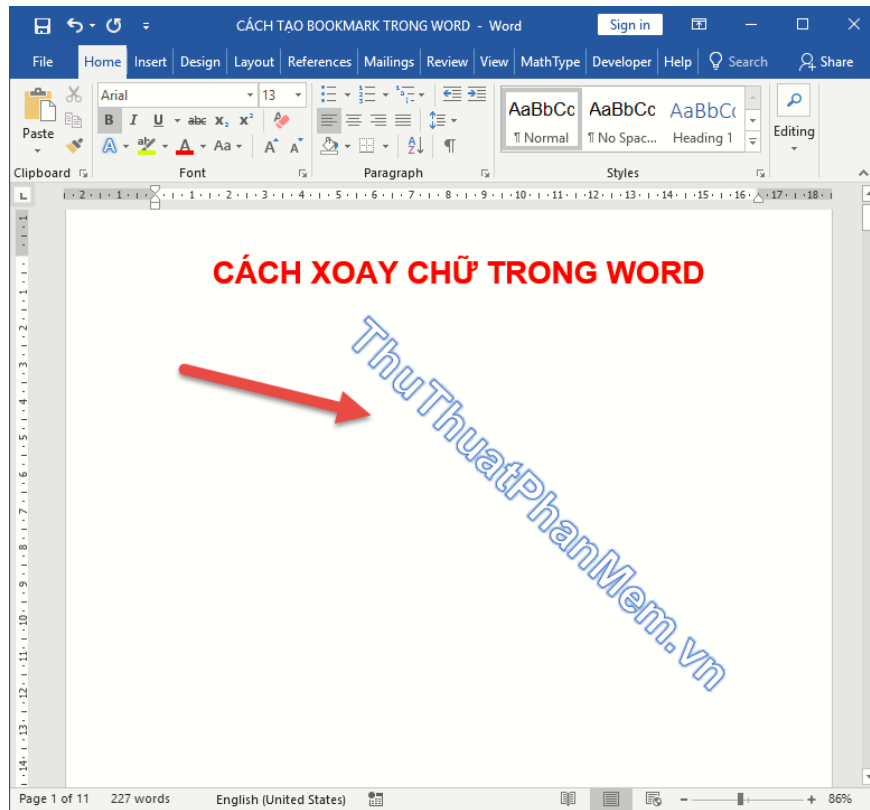

If you want to rotate the text at a different angle than the default, click More Rorate option:

The dialog box appears in Rorate, enter the measure of the angle to be rotated for the object -> click OK:

As a result, you also rotated the text direction according to the angle entered:

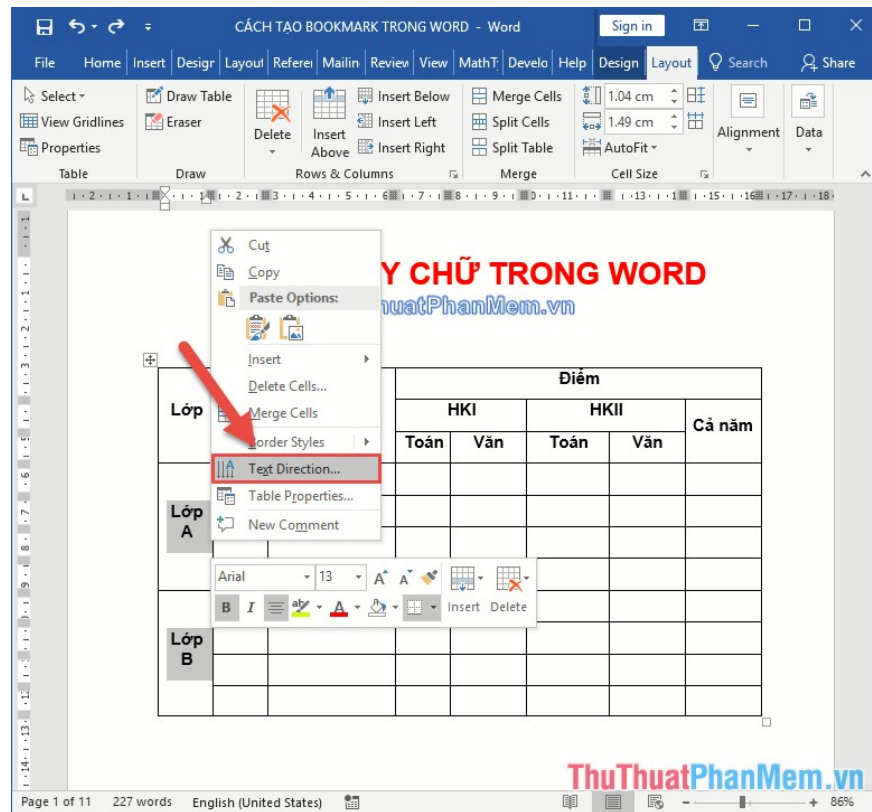

In addition, you can manipulate directly on the object without having to use any tab on the toolbar by keeping left clicking on the circle icon of the object -> rotate as you like for the object:

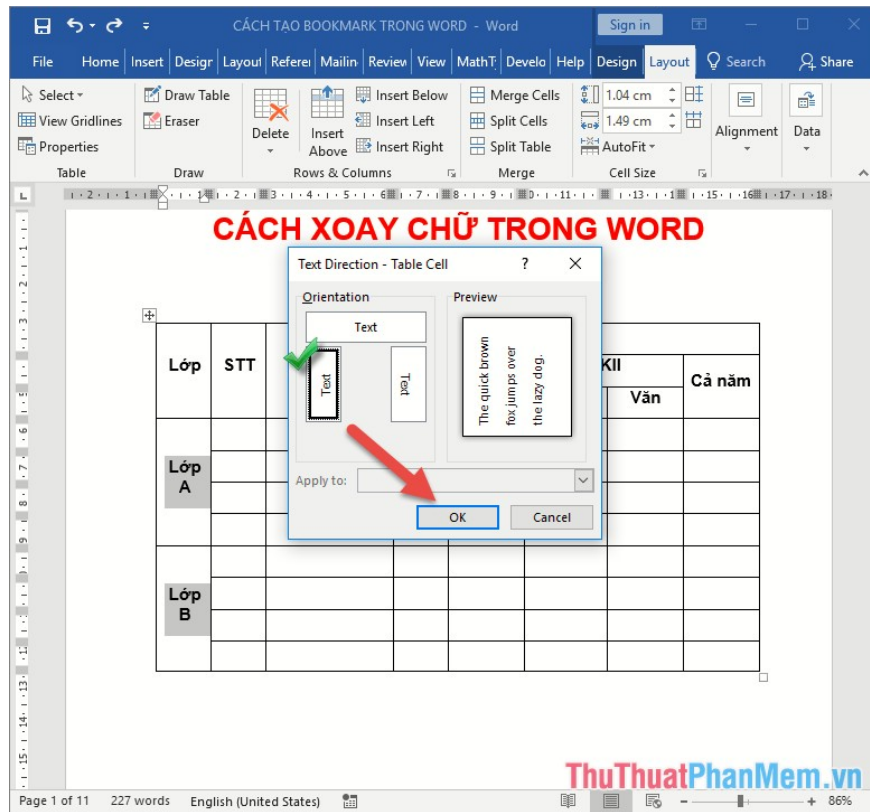

2. Rotate the text direction with text as the content of the chart

The dialog box displays a click on the direction of the text to be rotated -> click the OK button:

Or you go to the layout tab -> Alignment -> click on Text Direction until you get the desired text direction:

The result you have rotated text is in the table:
