

How to send contacts in the Skype chat window

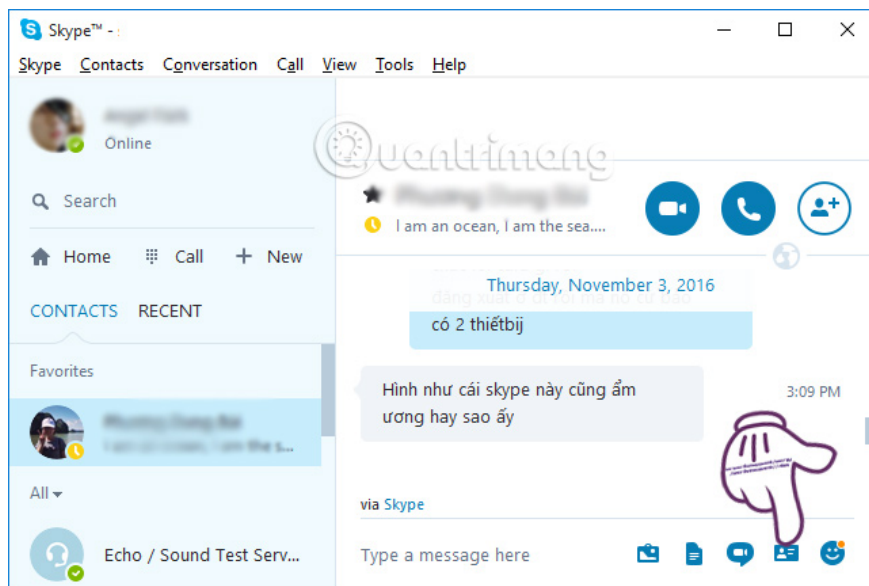

In order to be able to send one or more contact numbers right on Skype, we will immediately use the tool available on Skype and only with a very simple operation.

During chat with certain personal contacts or group chat on Skype, there will be cases where we need to send someone's contact to the enemy, even send multiple contacts at once. If you copy each account and then send it to each person on Skype, it is quite time consuming. So why don't we send multiple contacts to an individual or within a group chat window on Skype? This way will save you a lot more time than the previous communication method.

Step 1:

First of all, we log in to the Skype account on the device. At the main interface, we choose a conversation to send contact on Skype, can chat privately or in a group chat conversation.

Next, we click on the contact card icon as shown below.

Step 2:

Soon a small window will appear with all contacts listed in your personal Skype account. Here you can select the account, which Skype nick you want to send, just select the account you want to send it.

Or if with a long list of friends, we can type the account name in the bar above for easy search.

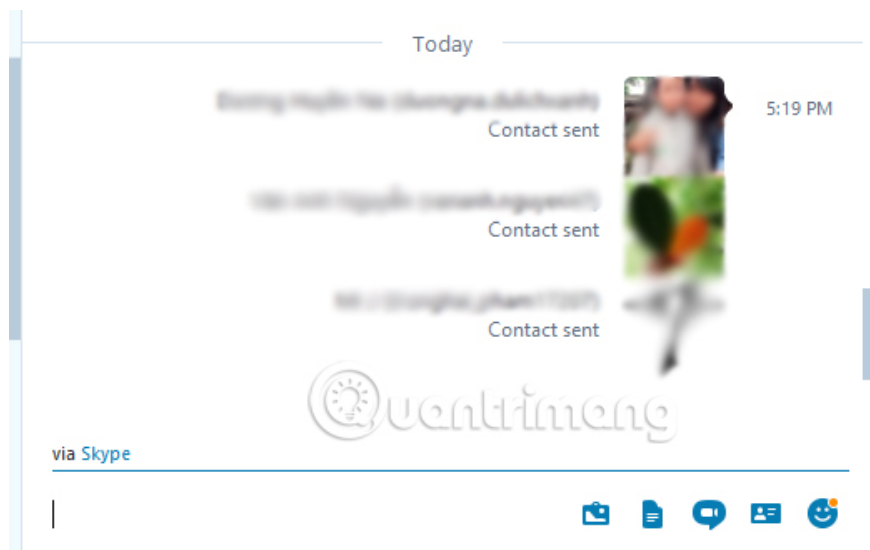

Once you have found the account you want to send, click on the Send contacts button.

Step 3:

When sending successfully, the chat interface will appear as the following picture.

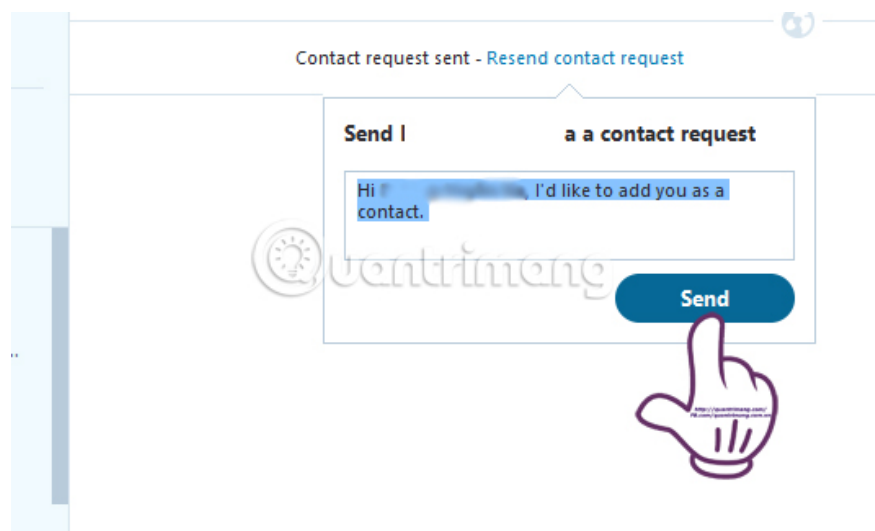

Step 4:

Once the contact has received this contact, they can immediately send a friend request, by clicking on that account and selecting Resend contact request .

Finally press the Send button to send the request.

Pretty convenient right ?! With just a few simple steps you can send one or more other contacts to your friends, or in the Skype chat group. We do not need to proceed to find each account and then send it to each person as needed.
