

How to send messages to multiple contact numbers on iPhone

To send messages and content to multiple numbers on the iPhone, we can use Siri Shortcuts or third-party apps. This is a guide for sending specific messages to many people on your iPhone.

With iOS 12 installed iPhone, Siri Shortcuts application is currently considered the most useful and multi-zip applications. The application will create shortcuts with different themes, different uses for iPhone / iPad. For example, Siri Shortcuts application will have a shortcut to turn off WiFi from the widget screen, shortcut to download YouTube videos on iPhone, or download files on iPhone in many different formats.

In this article Network Administrator will introduce you to read the new Mass Message shortcut with the ability to send messages with the same content to multiple phone numbers on the iPhone. So you don't need a general group who wants to send the same message as before. The following article will show you how to send messages to multiple individual contacts on iPhone.

So the Mass Message shortcut on iPhone has helped you send messages and content to multiple contacts. We can set the greeting in each message first, then enter the message content manually later.

Send messages to multiple phone numbers on iPhone manually

1. You open the Messages application. If you're in a message, tap the back arrow in the upper left corner to see a list of all incoming messages.
2. Touch the new message icon, which looks like a pen and paper in the upper right corner.
3. In the To line : enter the recipient's name or click the + icon and browse to the recipient in the phonebook. Click on the name of the person who wants to send the message to select.
4. If the person you want to send is not in the directory, in the To line : enter your phone or Apple ID directly.
5. After adding the first person, repeat the steps above to add recipients.
6. Write the message content as usual.
7. Press the Send button and the message will be sent to everyone in the To line : you added it.

Create chat groups to send messages to multiple people at once on iPhone

If all friends send messages using the iPhone and have to keep in touch with each other, you can create a group to send messages to save time.

Name the group to send the message:

Open the Messages application, open the message you just sent to many people

Click the i symbol in the upper right corner.

Touch Enter a Group Name / Enter the group name > enter a name > Done / Done .

Hide notifications from the group:

Open the Messages application, open the group message > click i > scroll down to find Hide Alerts . The moon icon appears next to the conversation, meaning you have turned off its notification.

Add / remove people from the message group:

Open the Messages application and select the group of messages you want to add / delete people > click on i > click Add Contact / Add contacts > in the Add line : you enter the name of the person you want to add > Done / Done .

Leave the message group:

You just need to click the i icon in the upper right corner of the message > select Leave this Conversation .
