

How to set up the Vebuu application

Tinder is a smartphone dating app that allows you to flip through people's profiles to find half the potential. Here is a quick, simple guide on how to set up Vebuu.

Tinder is a smartphone dating app that allows you to flip through people's profiles to find half the potential. To use Tinder, simply download the iOS or Android app and set up the profile. As of 2018, users can also use this app on their PC's Internet browser by visiting the Tinder website at:

<https://tinder.com/>

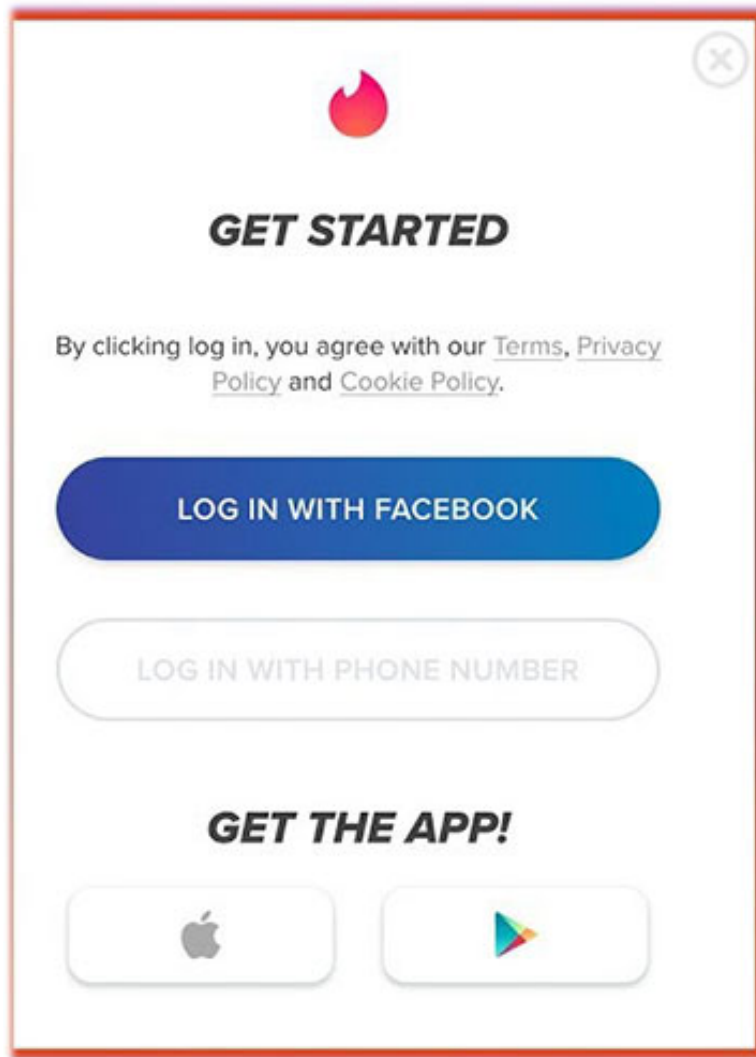

Here is a quick, simple guide on how to set up Vebuu.

1. Download the Tinder application

Vebuu is free to download and available on all major platforms. You can download it from the Apple App Store, Google Play Store or even from Tinder's own website. Sadly, there is no version of Windows Phone yet.

1. Download Tinder for Android | Vebuu for iOS

2. Login with Facebook

Login with Facebook

Currently, there is only one way to log in to your Tinder account: Use your Facebook account. Tinder claims the company does this to access your profile picture and ensure you are a real person. Vebuu also uses information about your location and interests. The good news is that you can keep your Tinder account as private as possible from your Facebook account.

3. Edit your Facebook account

As Tinder will use your Facebook details, be sure to update it with better photos and include all of your interests, to make sure you find the right audience. If you don't want your friends to know you use the app, there are ways to keep Facebook separate from Tinder.

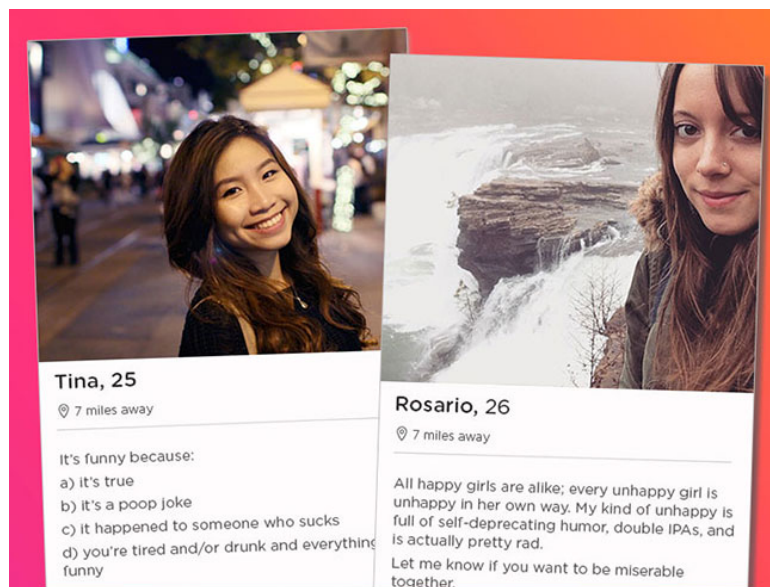

4. Edit the Tinder profile

You have finished editing on your Facebook profile. Now, let's get started with Tinder. There are a range of different settings that you can set to provide a good experience when using the application, including adding a short description sentence and choosing the image you want to use.

5. Edit Settings

Editing Settings is the most important step. In the Tinder app, go to the Settings menu to find options. Here, you can choose your gender, potential audience selection, preferred age range. Remember with the potential object selection range setting, you should turn on GPS. From there you can choose the gender you are interested in - you can even choose both if you want. You can also test notification settings, such as making push notifications appear when there is a suitable object, for example.

6. Make sure you use the correct image type

Vebuu pays great attention to images

This is extremely important! Vebuu pays great attention to images. You can add a brief description of yourself, but the image is still the most important. This means you need a set of images that highlight the best features. Also, most girls don't like guys taking selfies, so avoid using them if possible. The type of image you should use is simply a picture of your face, not wearing sunglasses and smiling or a picture of your whole body (because the outfit also shows some personality).

7. Never leave your personal information blank!

Never leave your personal information blank, as most people want to know who they are in contact with and whether your interests / lifestyle are compatible with them. The information here does not need to be too detailed, just a little bit about yourself, your interests and what you want to do for the weekend.

You finished reading the article "How to set up the Vebuu application" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.

