

How to show Outlook notifications without time limit

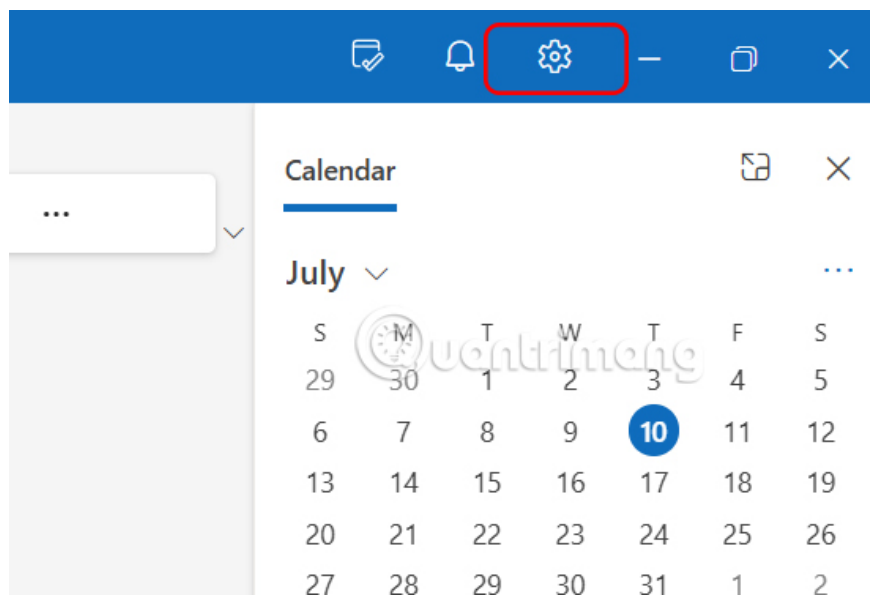

Outlook on Windows 11 updates the feature to show desktop notifications until you close them, improving the user experience.

Outlook on Windows 11 has updated the feature to show notifications on the screen until you close it, helping to improve the user experience. Then you will not miss the notification that you have not responded to. Here is the guide to show Outlook notifications without time limit.

How to show Outlook notifications without time limit

Step 1:

Open Outlook on your computer, then click the gear icon to access the application settings.

Step 2:

Switch to the new interface, users click on General to access general settings.

Looking at the content next to it, we click on Accessibility to continue.

Step 3:

Now you will see the Adjust timing setting option to adjust the notification according to the time. We will check Show error notifications and action confirmations until I dismiss them to display the notification on the screen until you dismiss them.

Finally, click Save to save the new settings for Outlook.

Show error notifications and action confirmations until I dismiss them

Save

Discard

You finished reading the article "How to show Outlook notifications without time limit" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.

---