

How to take photos of the website, capture the whole website on Chrome and Firefox

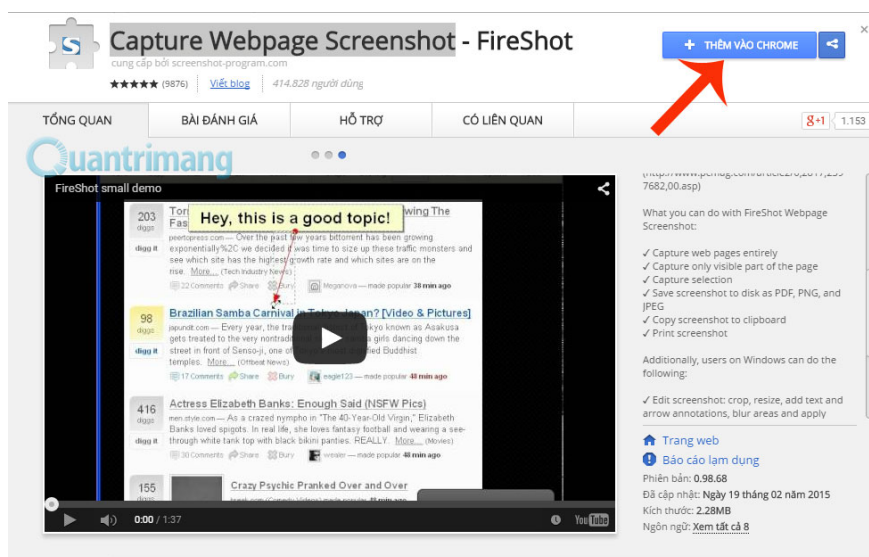

Take a website, take a whole website or take part of a website, you will do all these tasks with only simple website photography instructions in this article.

In the process of surfing the web, you come across a good website and want to keep it for use when you need it, or share it with your friends, but there are quite a number of pages if taken with the screen capture function available on Windows. You can't take it all, you'll have to take each part and stitch them together, it takes a lot of time. If you encounter such a situation, please refer to our guide to taking photos of the entire website on Chrome, Coc Coc and Firefox.

1. How to take iPhone phone screen shot?
2. Instructions for filming a screen with Bandicam
3. How to use Camtasia Studio to record a screen?

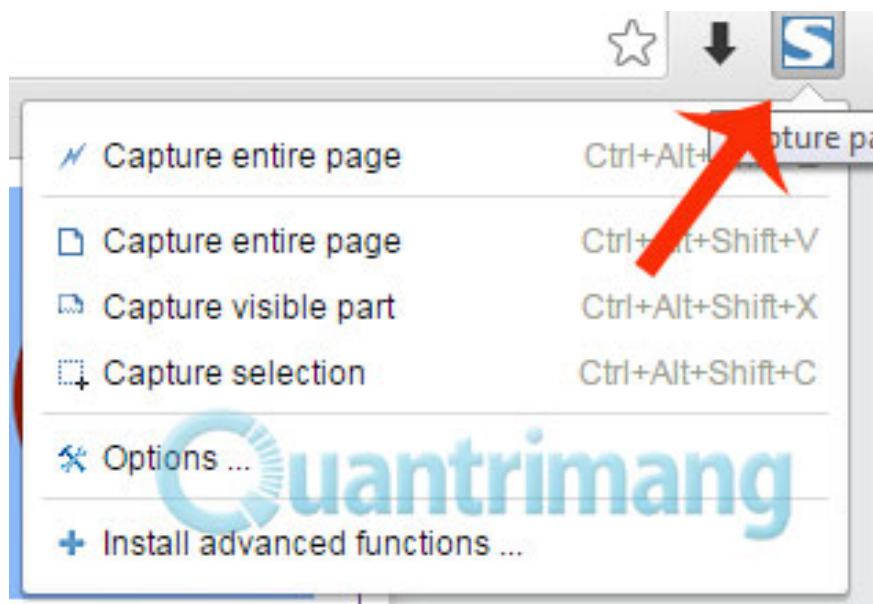

1. How to take photos of websites on Chrome, Coc Coc

Step 1 : Download the Webpage Screenshot extension for Chrome, Coc Coc

Step 2 : When adding success, the utility will appear at the end of the address bar with different options depending on the intended use.

1. Capture entire page: Capture the entire web page, this option will give you a long-term website snapshot, capture the entire web page with one click without scrolling, capturing, merging images together .
2. Capture visible part: Capture only the parts that are currently on the screen, visible.
3. Capture selection: Capture the part you selected on the screen.

Here, we select Capture entire page as an example:

The right pane will have options for the photo you just took: save as an image, save as a PDF file, copy to Clipboard or print. Depending on your choice, the application will open the image to a new tab and allow you to save it in the selected format.

2. How to take photos of websites on Firefox

Step 1 : First, you need to install the FireShot utility in Firefox.

In the Utilities window, select the Add utility and type FireShot in the Search box and proceed with the installation.

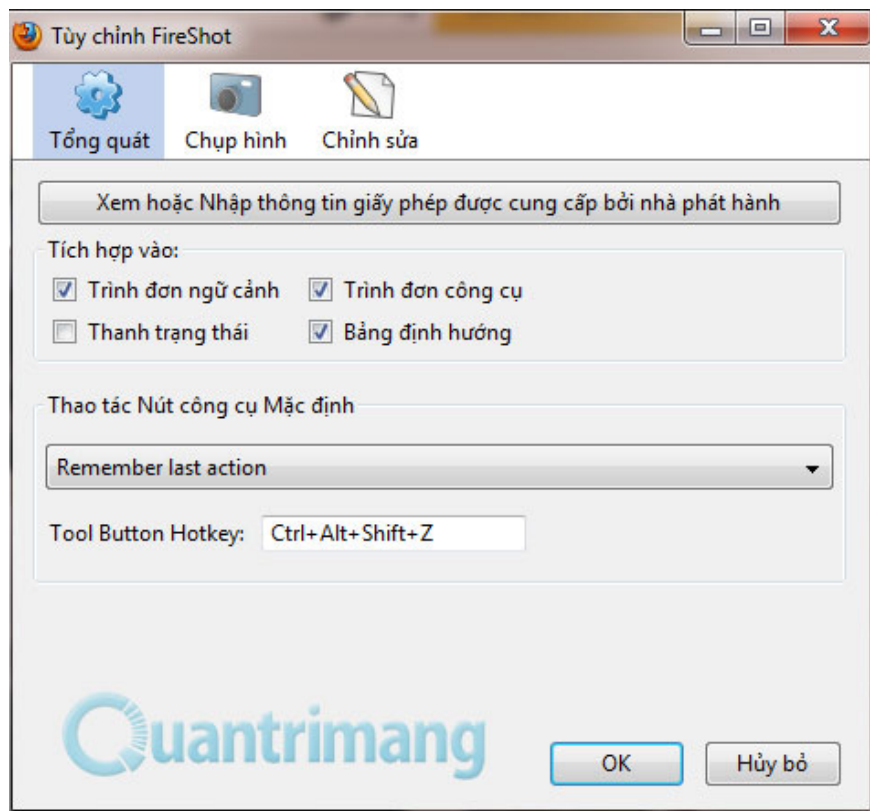

After installation, Firefox will ask you to reboot so the utility can work

Step 3 : When Firefox is opened, the utility will be at the end of the address bar.

Click on Custom to set the parameters

From now on, every time you want to capture the web site just click on the S icon

As such, we have introduced you how to take website photos on both Chrome and Firefox. Good luck!

You finished reading the article "How to take photos of the website, capture the whole website on Chrome and Firefox" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.