

How to upload and share files online on GoFile

GoFile is a file sharing website that automatically destroys or secures users.

Besides sending files via email, traditional cloud storage services, many people now tend to choose online file sharing services. Most of these file sending services do not limit the file upload format, the number of files to allow downloading multiple files with large capacity, so users are free to upload data. In particular, the security of personal data for users is also ensured through file password and file self-destruct mode.

GoFile is an online file sharing service, has file security through passwords when others want to download files, or set the self-destruct mode after a certain time. The file recipient has the option to download the file in a compressed file format, if more than one file is received. The following article will guide you how to share files on GoFile.
