

How to use the new IGTV video channel on Instagram

IGTV is a new feature on Instagram, dedicated to videos up to 4K quality and with a time limit of 60 seconds.

Instagram recently updated two new features, Direct, a live messaging application from Instagram and IGTV, a feature dedicated to video, especially with 4K video support. Accordingly, IGTV will help users find all videos in the Instagram accounts you are following, or suggest videos. In addition, users will also be able to create their own video channel, supporting vertical 4K video downloads with a 60-second limited time limit to the present time.

Videos can still be commented, saved or shared as usual. The following article will show you how to use the new IGTV feature on Instagram.

Step 7:

Then the user will go to the video content editing interface. You can add video titles, video descriptions or display videos on Facebook.

Click the Edit cover photo for the video if you want to replace the video image. You can download photos from an existing album or select a cover image from the video. Finally click the Post button to post your video to your personal IGTV Instagram.

In the future, Instagram will give which account many people follow a longer time posting on IGTV. It will then allow posting unlimited videos of all lengths to all users.
