

How to use virtual assistant Jarvis to remind you on Facebook Messenger

Jarvis is a Facebook Messenger bot with a reminder feature on Facebook Messenger when users set up time and work. This bot will automatically schedule and will notify the user when the appointment arrives.

If you are looking for a daily assistant without having to install any software or application, Jarvis is a candidate. As a Facebook Messenger bot, Jarvis was created as a virtual reminder tool for users. When we set up time and work for Jarvis, it remembers and automatically notifies users by Messenger message when it comes to the appointment. Together with the Network Administrator, learn how this Jarvis tool works.

Step 1:

Go to this address and click on Talk to him on Messenger .

Step 2:

We need to login to Facebook account to perform. Then click on Continue .

Step 3:

At the Hello Jarvis chat window interface, start with a simple Hi greeting to Jarvis. Soon, it will respond to you immediately, with questions about where you live to reconfigure the time zone accordingly.

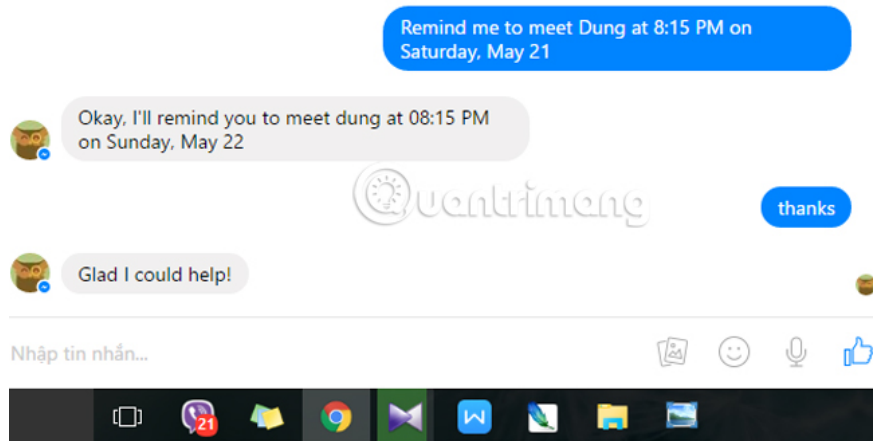

Step 4:

When we provide the location, Jarvis will display the correct time zone according to the locality . And there's a guide to help Jarvis remember and remind you.

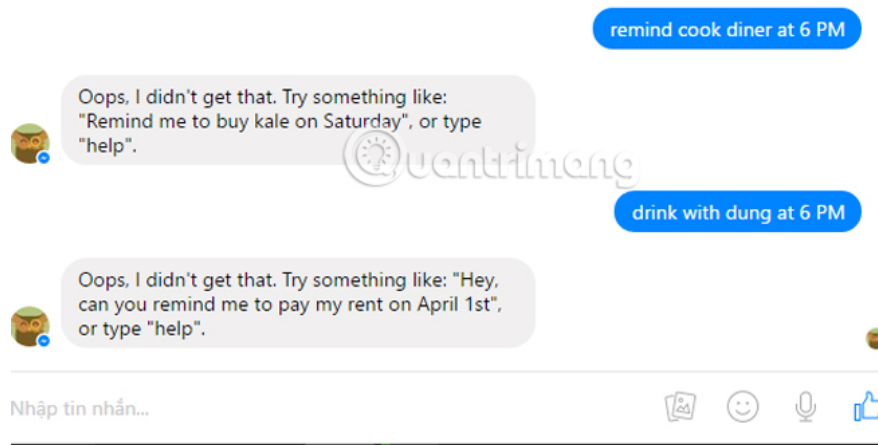

Step 5:

Now try writing a scheduling statement with Jarvis . If we enter the required information, the friend Jarvis will confirm the time and schedule a reminder.

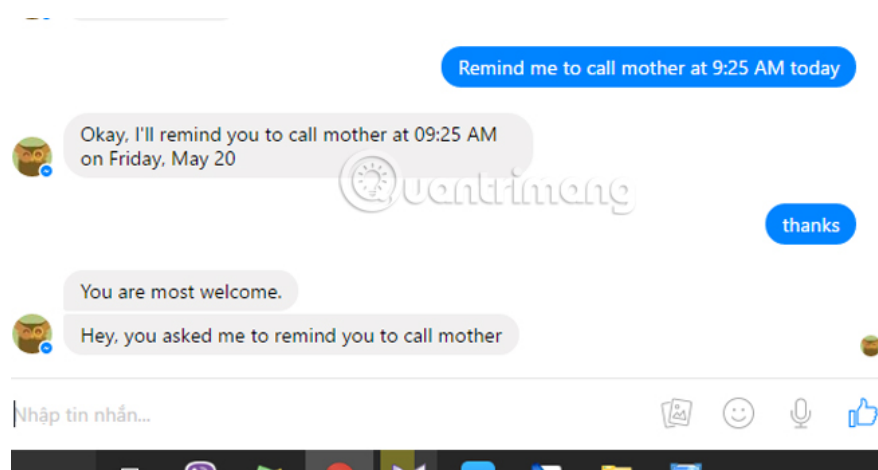

Note , it is necessary to type in the correct command that Jarvis gave in the tutorial.

If we type the wrong statement, Jarvis will prompt and give specific instructions. Or you can type the help phrase to get help from this Messenger bot.

And when it comes to the appointment, Jarvis will remind you through sending Facebook Messenger messages. If you send a thank you note, Jarvis will respond politely or use a heart shape.

Pretty convenient, isn't it! Although Jarvis does not support Vietnamese and can type the correct command, it can be done, but if you are using Messenger and need to prompt and do not want to go to the computer screen or phone to use the tool, It is worth it for us to experience Jarvis virtual friend.
