

HP Chromebook 14 is colorful, priced from $ 299

Chromebook 14 is aimed at young users with a sturdy plastic cover with three colors to choose from: orange, white and blue. The device owns a 14-inch screen, but the touchpad is still small and the journey is quite short, according to The Verge's experience.

HP laptops have 16 GB SSDs and the ability to store 100 GB online on Google's servers.

HP Chromebook 14.

Chromebook 14 is aimed at young users with a sturdy plastic cover with three colors to choose from: orange, white and blue. The device owns a 14-inch screen, but the touchpad is still small and the journey is quite short, according to The Verge's experience .

HP did not announce the specific configuration of the device but insisted it would be the first Chromebook to feature Haswell platform processors. It uses only 16 GB of internal SSD memory and cloud storage capability provided by Google with a capacity of 100 GB in two years.

The device is also fully equipped with connectivity ports including HDMI, USB 2.0 and the latest USB 3.0 standard. In addition, this is also a product that can use both 3G / 4G / LTE connections. In the US market, each user will receive 200 MB of free data per month for two years.

Chromebook 14 runs Chrome OS with the majority of applications comparable to the Chrome browser on the current Windows or OS X computer. A special feature of this product is that most of the data is stored on servers instead of stored on the hard drive of the product.

The reference price of the product is from 299 USD.

Actual photo of HP Chromebook 14:

The machine has a shell made of plastic.

Machine running Chrome OS operating system.

The keyboard has a short journey.

Plastic shell of the same color below.

Three colors of Chromebook 14.

You finished reading the article "HP Chromebook 14 is colorful, priced from $ 299" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.
