

HP launches ultra-thin laptop

The ultra-thin Envy 133 laptop is expensive for HP gamers and enthusiasts to launch this month.

The ultra-thin Envy 133 laptop is expensive for HP gamers and enthusiasts to launch this month.

This is the latest Voodoo PC product to produce gaming computers. The company has merged with HP since 2006 to strengthen and diversify products in the market.

Product Envy 133 rival of the MacBook Air.

The thickness of the camera body is only 1.7 cm, weighing approximately 1.5 kg. High quality webcam computer that can be used for video conferencing. In terms of security features, Envy 133 is applied simultaneously with face detection and fingerprint recognition biometric technologies.

The Envy 133 configuration uses an Intel Core 2 Duo processor with a speed of 1.6 GHz, a 2GB RAM, an 80GB hard drive. The DVD optical disc is separate but still ensures the movie playback applications on the mirror screen display 13.3 inches wide. In particular, the keyboard structure has a system of lights that automatically turn on when the fingers touch. The casing is made of carbon fiber material for designing car paint with noble and seven colors, showing elegance.

Envy 133 uses Windows Vista as well as an alternative operating system Linux will be available at authorized stores or on HP's global website system with a starting price of $ 2,099.

You finished reading the article "HP launches ultra-thin laptop" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.