

'I am good at my ability, young, I have to do the job commensurate with the level, not the errands ...'

Never ask why you are still unemployed until now, because you require too much. If you know who you are, you will surely succeed.

Young people often think that " I have a degree, I have a capacity, I have a young age. I have to find a job worthy of my level but cannot go to errands, the salary" three piles of three dongs " okay ". With that in mind, many students were unemployed after many years of graduation.

Everyone knows that the opportunity comes only once, there are people who catch the right opportunity, meet the right time and they quickly succeed, but there are people who wait forever for the opportunity to win the whole life in exchange. hatred, failure.

It doesn't matter what it brings, once the opportunity comes, we need to grasp, it is the door to opening up a brighter future, more flashy things. The story below will give you a better understanding of the value of opportunity.

There was a young codon, waiting for Ba Nhac - a talented person to watch the famous horse general in Spring and Autumn, come to discover it.

One day a merchant passed by and said, " Are you willing to follow me? "

Heavenly code shook his head in reply: " I am a natural code, how can I follow the merchant transporting goods? "

The next day, another group of soldiers came and said, " Do you want to follow us? "

The Code of God continued to shake his head and said: " I am a code-wise, how can a normal soldier develop my full potential? "

Some time later, a hunter came and said, " Are you willing to follow me? "

The code of paradise still shook his head and said: " I am a paradox of code, how can I follow the hunters? "

Day after day, year after year, the code of nature still stood in one place but could not find an ideal opportunity for me.

Until one day, he sent the king to serve everywhere. The code of paradise that met the ambassador was extremely happy to say: " I am the code of nature that you want to search for. "

Kham asked, " Do you know all the paths in our country? " Thien ly code shook his head.

" Have you ever fought, have any combat experience ?", The Heavenly Code continued to shake his head

Kham asked again, " So what can we use you for? "

Divine code answered: " I can go a thousand miles a day, 800 miles a night. "

Mistaking the god for divine code to run a test. The Code of God tried his best to move forward, but only a few steps he breathed heavily, sweat broke out, there was no strength left.

" You are old, no longer worth anything !", Saying that, then the goddess went away.

In the life of many people is like the other heavenly code, waiting for the opportunity but when the opportunity comes, it is impossible to grasp.

Young people often think that " I have a degree, I have a capacity, I have a young age. I have to find a job that is worthy of my level but cannot accept the errand, salary" three piles of three dongs "okay ". With that in mind, many students were unemployed after many years of graduation.

We need to know a degree does not mean that there is a capacity, a qualification does not mean having a culture, the glorious past is just a history, a memory to remember . So how it doesn't matter yesterday, how important it is today, how it will be tomorrow.

Today, your seemingly normal efforts are cumulative for the future. Every experience, once unhappy, denied, laid the foundation for your future success. Don't wait until you're old, can't run anymore to regret it.

In life we ??may encounter many difficulties and hardships but just trying and persevering to pass will definitely have a good future. If you just stand one place to complain and wait, someone else will come to work for you. You don't seize the opportunity, others will take that opportunity, no one will wait for you!

You finished reading the article "I am good at my ability, young, I have to do the job commensurate with the level, not the errands ..." edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.