1. Love is to be happy, forget about your past relationship and keep looking for happiness!
2. Men who want to succeed stay away from these seven types of women
3. By owning these 7 features, you can 'defeat' the enemy at first sight

Love always has questions that we can't sometimes explain. Why do people love each other? Why are there people who want to spend their lives on the side, want their future to have their names?

In every life, every man desires to get a loving wife is something that any gentleman wants. But sometimes, men often focus on more formal beauty, or sweet words from them. So where is the true woman you should choose to marry?

Here are some factors that researchers around the world have pointed out, gentlemen can refer to when choosing for themselves a wonderful and mean wife.

1. The wife is smarter than you

While getting used to and looking for a mate for you, make sure she is a smart person and not a long-legged girl without a brain. Marrying a smarter person is indeed a great thing. Because smart women will help you improve yourself, as well as know how to handle problems in the life of the couple.

2. She is a true person

In human life, everyone makes mistakes and makes incorrect choices. A partner next to you can help you identify mistakes and go on the right path. So, find yourself a true wife to help you know where you are wrong to repair and improve.

3. She is always optimistic

A girl who is always happy, optimistic and love life and a girl with a negative attitude of life will choose who. Of course, the girl is optimistic, because no man wants his girlfriend all day long, melancholy, which will negatively affect your life.

Negativity can be 'contagious', so is positive, being near a positive, optimistic person will have a different perspective on life and it will affect your actions. So, do you want your actions to be negative or positive?

4. As a person who accepts sacrifices

Life is not always pink, so is marriage. There will be times when the rice is not good, the soup is not sweet, the couple has disagreements that is perfectly normal. So, a wife who knows sympathy and accepts sacrifices to keep a family home is extremely precious.

Never think that the sacrifice here is too big, sometimes it is only necessary to 'boil fire', each one reduces me a little to listen, then marriage never meets problems. return.

5. She laughs at your bland joke

Of course, anyone who doesn't want to have someone on his or her side, you meet her and other people, then you try to be cool by telling a joke. If everyone doesn't laugh but she still laughs, marry that woman.

6. She is open and not shy

Open girls often attract men rather than hot-looking girls. Because they are always willing to share problems with others, being a listener and empathetic person.

7. She encourages your dreams and has her own dreams to pursue

According to studies, it is shown that strong and independent women will make their husbands more successful than weak and needy women, because weak women are sometimes a burden. for men.

8. She has a good relationship with her parents

If you want to know what your wife will be like in the future, look at her parents. If you want to know how she will treat you in the future, still look at her parents.

9. Having his own life and career

Girls who know how to take care of themselves, pay attention to their own style and spend time with family and friends. She can find a way to travel to reduce stress. She knows how to enjoy life. This means, she does not always need a man to protect her.

10. She accepts your defects

Many couples after a period of love often criticize each other or a person is criticized for different aspects such as bad body, old fashion, unhappy jokes .

So, if there is a girl who can accept your shortcomings, don't hesitate, that's the real piece for your life.

11. She can forgive for greater purposes

If you make a big mistake that the girl can forgive you and accept to continue this relationship because of their happiness, then surely it is a perfect girl, should not miss .
