

Image of 'hacking the brain' netizens: Steve Jobs, the late Apple CEO is still alive, is hiding in Egypt?

In the past few days, netizens around the world have been constantly debating the 'brain hack' image related to Steve Jobs, one of the legendary names of the technology village.

In the past few days, netizens around the world have been constantly debating the 'brain hack' image related to Steve Jobs, one of the legendary names of the technology village. Unfortunately, he died from a deadly cancer in 2011.

Specifically, a new photo taken in Egypt a few days ago recorded an image of a man with an angle that cannot be mixed with anyone other than the late Apple CEO posted on the Internet, making netizens not bewildered. . Immediately, the image was spread at breakneck speed.

After just 3 days, the photo above received more than 80,000 upvotes on Reddit, showing how incredible and shocking it is.

Many people even think that Steve Jobs actually faked his death to shun, he is still alive and currently in Egypt. However, many people think that this is just a strange coincidence.

A comment on Reddit said: 'This person looks so similar to Steve Jobs in an unbelievable way that is coincidence. If this wasn't him, would there be a real 'doppelganger'?' "

Another idea received a lot of agreement, because this idea was not only funny but also reasonable: " If Steve Jobs was still alive, he would rush back to Apple and get angry, lay off the staff now, the first is the team planning to release their streaming service. "

If Jobs is still alive today, this guy's prediction is entirely possible because he just wants the Apple ship to go in his direction. The most obvious example is the stylus, Steve Jobs once despised this feature. If given the opportunity to know that today's iPad Pro is carrying a pen by its side, it is unknown how he will react.

So far, the debate has not ended. What about you, when you look at the picture above?

1. This is why Steve Jobs announced that he would destroy Android until his last breath
2. Steve Jobs and 8 "thunder" words have come true in the world of technology

You finished reading the article "Image of 'hacking the brain' netizens: Steve Jobs, the late Apple CEO is still alive, is hiding in Egypt?" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.