

Instruction to install an affordable price PC gaming rig, play during the holiday without worrying about lag with quality components not to be missed

Installing a universal gaming computer is not easy but not easy. Create your own super game battle with the quality products below can not be ignored.

Many people have always thought that choosing parts for assembling and upgrading computers is always difficult. However, it is easy if you refer to the complete gaming computer set in the article.

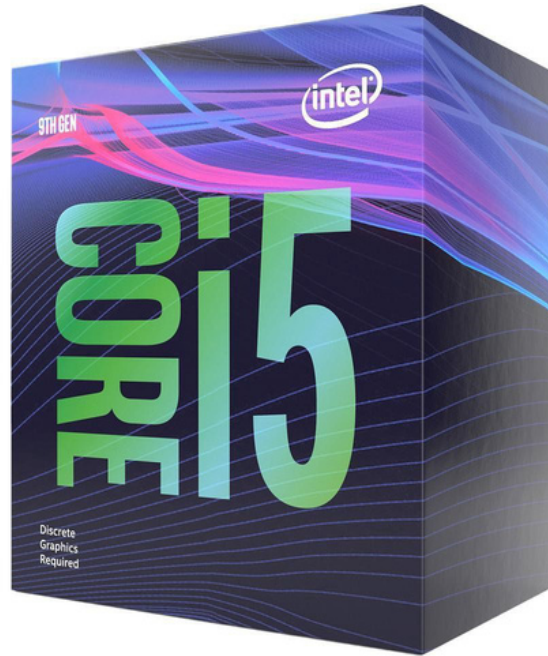

Motherboard - MSI H310M Gaming Plus

Targeting delicious and cheap criteria, MSI H310M Gaming Plus is a good choice for you. MSI H310M is a mid-range motherboard model based on socket 1151-v2, supporting the 8th and 9th generation Intel CPUs with many powerful features of the H310 chipset.

With a soft price and strong performance, MSI H310M Gaming Plus is a mid-range mainboard that is worth a look in the segment.

Central processing unit (CPU)

When building a gaming PC, the CPU is the most important part. It can be said that CPU is the soul of gaming machine. The stronger the "CPU" is, the smoother the machine will run. To pair with the MSI H310M Gaming Plus mainboard above, you have 2 options.

If economic conditions permit, it is recommended to use Intel Core i5-9400F. With 6 powerful cores in the Coffee Lake Refresh line and manufactured on its 14 nm process and a processing speed of up to 4.1 GHz, the i5-9400F will definitely bring you the experience. Great game.

However, if financing does not allow, the Intel Core i3-9100F is not a bad choice. Although not comparable to the elder i5-9400F, the i3-9100F combo with MSI H310M Gaming Plus is also extremely powerful. If you are not a serious computer user and do not run too many heavy games at a high setting, you will hardly notice the difference.

Graphics Card (VGA) - MSI GeForce GTX 1660 Gaming X

For smooth gaming, a strong VGA is a must. More powerful, beautiful, and cheaper, the GTX 1660 Gaming X put an end to the glory days of the GTX 1060 and won the title of "national card" among gamers. For mid-range computers, the MSI GTX 1660 Super Gaming X 6GB VGA is a component worth paying attention to.

MSI GTX 1660 Super Gaming X 6GB has a good performance, 2 fans are not afraid of overheating. Moreover, this card model is also suitable for "pairing" with 2 models of Intel i3-9100F and i5-9400F processors without fear of bottlenecks, reducing jerky / lag when gaming.

RAM - G.Skill RipJaws V-16 GB (8 GBx2) DDR4

RAM, also known as random access memory, has a task to help you access software, PC games quickly, support multi-tasking at the same time without delay. Therefore, you need to make sure your system has enough RAM to be able to access any software.

The G.Skill Ripjaws V-16GB (8GBx2) DDR4 duo is what you need to create your super cool gaming PC. With 16GB capacity, you can freely surf the web, Facebook, as well as battle games and multitask at the same time without worrying about lag.

Hard Drive

Another indispensable component when building that PC is the hard drive. Currently, there are 2 main types of hard drives: SSD and HDD. Typically, high-performance gaming computers are equipped with SSDs to speed up game loading and give an almost instant response time.

Here the most logical choice is the Samsung 860 EVO 250GB SATA III SSD. With up to 250 GB of storage and superior read and write speed, you will not have to sit around waiting for your PC to start or load the game.

Of course, you can equip a Seagate BarraCuda or WD 1TB HDD to increase the storage of digital content such as movies, learning materials .

Source (PSU) - Corsair VS450

Any professional gamer pays great attention to providing power, a stable source of power to help the computer operate more efficiently, limiting hardware errors.

The recommended power supply will be Corsair VS450. With a high quality and a good price, this PSU has more than enough power to keep your system running at its best.

Case (case)

If you are strong, you have to worry about beauty and the best candidate is Cooler Master NR400. In terms of specifications, the case has 1 fan 12cm front, 1 fan 12cm rear can expand up to 6 fans. Support mount 280mm water front, 240mm above, dust filter on top and bottom. The case also supports up to 346 mm VGA, 166 mm air radiator.

This case will both protect the internal components, while creating a sense of aesthetics outside. This is a "delectable peach branch" choice for a PC system.

Screen

So your mid-range gaming PC is almost done. Only missing display screens.

Dell Ultrasharp U2419H is the perfect choice. The screen has a size of 24 inches, 2K resolution (1,920x1,080), IPS panel and high sRGB color coverage to help you satisfy your eyesight when watching vivid, realistic and detailed cutscenes. in the game. However, the 60Hz refresh rate shows signs of lack of breath in FPS games. In addition, if economic conditions do not allow, there are still two other options for you are HP P244 24 inch 5QG35AA or HP 22fw 22 inch 3KS61AA.

Peripheral accessories

To optimize the gaming experience, you can opt for additional peripherals such as mice, keyboards and portable hard drives to increase storage capacity. You can refer to at Shopee.
