

Instructions for changing application subscription packages on the App Store

Once you have subscribed to the app with the package you choose, you can change the app subscription package on the App Store, switch to a higher premium package, or downgrade the app subscription package.

Apps and games registered on the App Store have many different packages for users to choose from such as basic, professional or premium packages. After you have registered the application with the package you choose, you can change the application subscription package on the App Store, switch to a more advanced package or downgrade the application subscription package, depending on your needs. Below are instructions for redeeming your app subscription on the App Store.

How to redeem your app subscription on the iPhone App Store

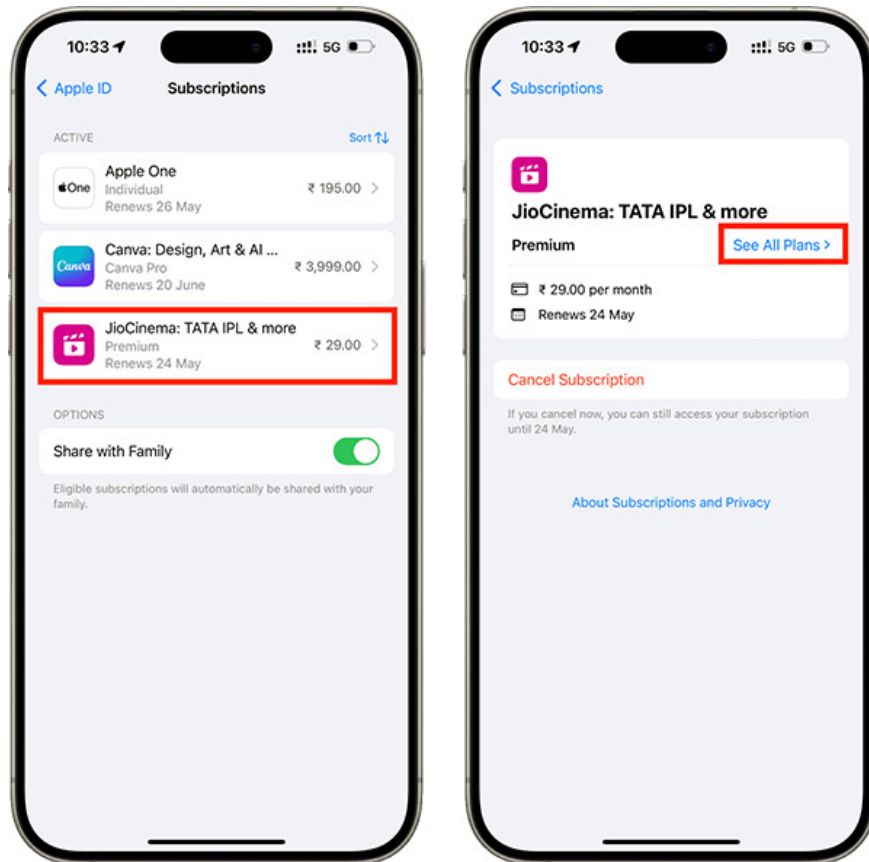

Step 1:

At the interface on iPhone, click Settings and then select your Apple ID account . Displaying the new interface, click on Subscriptions to see the application packages you have registered.

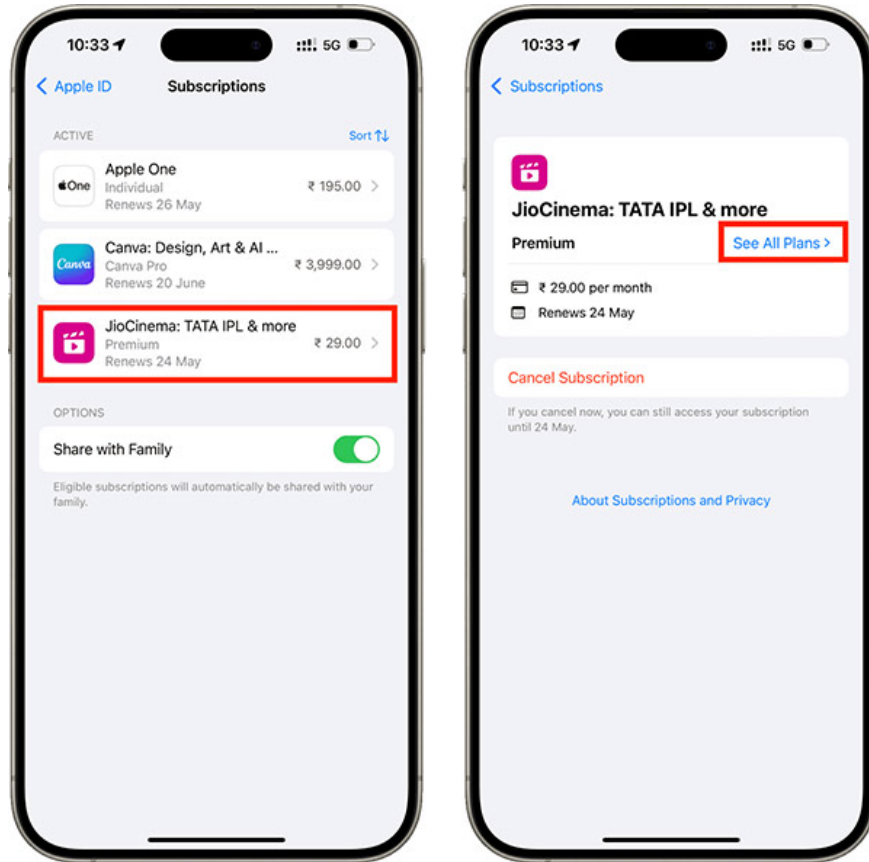

Step 2:

In the list of registered applications on the App Store, click on the application package you want to change the registration type. Continue to click See All Plans to see the entire subscription package of this application.

Step 3:

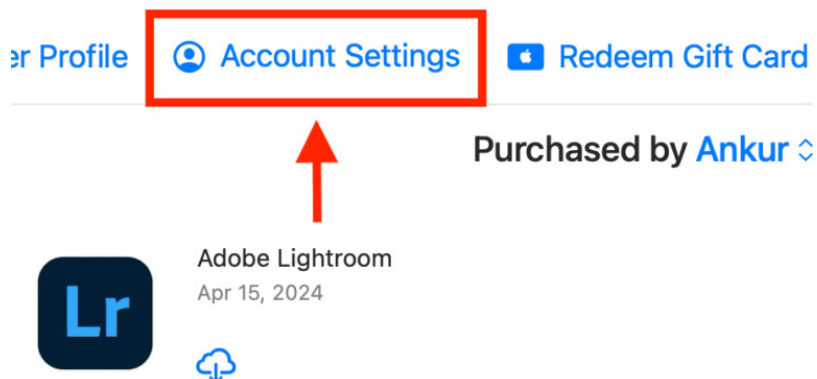

You'll see all the plans this app or service offers. The currently registered package is marked in green, next to other packages. Click on the other application package you want to subscribe to , then select Subscribe .
