1. Check the Samsung phone IMEI number

First of all, you need to check the IMEI number on the camera body, case, in the phone. If these 3 numbers match, it can be confirmed that the phone is still in the box, without changing the cover. Follow the steps below to check the Samsung phone IMEI number most accurately:

Step 1 : Check the IMEI number on the camera body.

1. With monolithic phones, the IMEI number will be printed right on the back of the phone.
2. For phones with removable batteries, you depend on the battery cover and the battery will see the IMEI number on the sticker.

A small note, separate phones with 2 sim will have 2 IMEI numbers, then you choose the first IMEI number to compare.

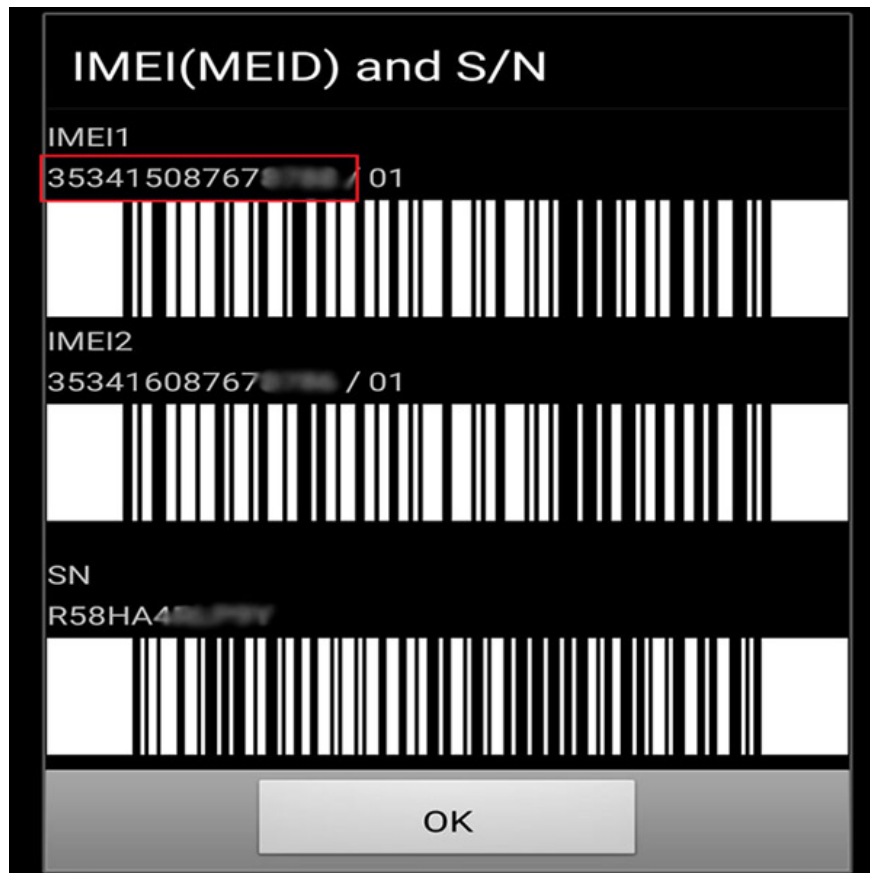

Step 2 : Check the IMEI number on the box.

1. A genuine phone will print the device's IMEI number on the box. You need to take a closer look to see if the Samsung case is in your hand with the device IMEI number.

Step 3 : Check the IMEI number on the phone.

To check IMEI on your phone, open the call keyboard and enter the number * # 06 # , to be more careful you can see more instructions for finding IMEI on your Android device.

When you do this, you only know if the device is intact, changed the shell or not, it is still not possible to conclude whether it is genuine or not.

2. Check your genuine Samsung phone via text message

It is very convenient when Samsung now offers an electronic warranty feature, which means that when you buy a new Samsung phone, when installing the sim on the phone, the phone will automatically send a warranty activation message. and after about 20 minutes to about 1 hour there will be a message sent to activate the electronic warranty successfully.

To check the genuine Samsung phone via message, you get the IMEI number already in the above step and write the message with the syntax: 15 number IMEI to 6060 (the message fee is 500 VND). Wait a minute, Samsung will return a message informing you that you have joined the warranty service that is the warranty period of the machine. At that time, you can conclude that this phone is genuine.
