WhatsApp is now rolling out a feature to create read reminders to help users respond in a timely manner, along with proactive reminders for unread messages. When using this feature, a notification appears about new messages, alerting you to read and reply to messages. Here's how to create a WhatsApp read reminder.

How to create a reminder to read WhatsApp messages

You open the chat on the WhatsApp application, then click on the messages that we want to create a reminder to read the message. Next, select the 3-dot icon and click Remind me to create a reminder.

You can then choose a notification reminder time of 2 hours, 8 hours, 24 hours or set a custom time of your choice.

After attaching a reminder, a bell icon appears next to the message, making the message stand out in the chat thread.

When the reminder timer ends, you'll receive a notification from WhatsApp, including the message content, chat name, or media preview.

This feature is currently being tested in the latest beta version of WhatsApp for Android and iOS will have to wait for some time.
